

JUDGE T. J. ENRIGHT
ASSUMES NEW DUTIES

JUDGE THOMAS J. ENRIGHT

A Cordial Reception by Judge
Hadley, Associate Judges and Bar Association

Judge Thomas J. Enright made his debut in police court today, assuming the duties of judge as successor to Judge Hadley, and the event was marked by all the formalities befitting the occasion.

It was a most cordial reception that awaited Judge Enright on taking his place upon the bench. Not only was there a large representation of the local bar, but Judge Hadley and the associate justices, Pickman and Fisher, together with many other friends of the new judge were present to congratulate him.

The judge's desk was literally covered with bouquets, the fragrance of which filled the room. The attendance was so large in the space reserved for lawyers and newspapermen, that extra chairs had to be supplied. As an act of grace on entering upon the duties of his office, Judge Enright released all the drunken offenders. J. Joseph O'Connor, Esq., and Deputy Hugh Downey may now boast of having the distinction of trying the first case before his Honor.

At 10 o'clock Court Officer Cawley announced in the usual way the arrival of the justice of the court, and Judge Enright, preceded by Judge Samuel P. Hadley, made his appearance in the court room. The former, who wore a frock coat, took his seat, and Clerk Savage immediately read the notice of Judge Enright's appointment, which was as follows:

Notice of Appointment

Know Ye, that We, by Our Governor, with the advice and consent of our council, confiding in the ability, discretion and integrity of Thomas J. Enright of Lowell do hereby under the provisions of chapter one hundred and sixty of the Revised Laws, constitute and appoint him to be the justice of the peace of the county of Middlesex, to hold said trust during his good behavior therein, unless removed therefrom in the manner provided by our constitution.

And we do authorize and enjoin him, the said Thomas J. Enright, to execute and perform all the duties, and he is invested with all the powers and responsibilities which by our constitution and laws do or may pertain to the said office, so long as he shall hold the same by virtue of these presents.

Witness His Excellency the Governor with the advice and consent of the council, Albert P. Langtry,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

FRED CITY AUTO DELIVERY

TAFT IS NOTIFIED
OF HIS NOMINATION

Ceremony Occurred at White House Today

CEREMONIES WERE QUITE INFORMAL

Moving Pictures Were Taken

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Everything was ready at the White House today for the ceremony of notifying President Taft that he is the candidate of the republican party to succeed himself. The East room, scene of many historic events of the nation's history, was in its best dress with its old quartered oak floor polished anew, its tall windows opened to the breeze from the Potomac and the finest products of the White House greenhouse, ever where around its walls. The president got up early and had breakfast with Mrs. Taft and Charles, his younger son, who came down from Beverly for the occasion. Mr. Taft's plans for the day were not elaborate. Only a few intimate friends were expected at the executive office in the short time he planned to stay there. The program arranged was to bring the official notification committee, headed by Senator Root, to the executive of-

(Concluded on page five)

Judge Enright introduced Judge Hadley, who congratulated the new judge on his appointment. He said in part: "I feel an interest in the local judiciary, as I have served here nearly 27 years as judge. I congratulate the new judge, for I feel as he feels, and from what I know of him we have the assurance he will fulfill his duties faithfully. I sincerely hope he will gratify this community with his decisions. I also hope and feel assured that you, Judge Enright, will receive as much courtesy and respect from the members of the bar association as I have."

Judge Hadley then said he entered the court room as clerk on the very same date and the very same hour 55 years ago. He was appointed judge on Feb. 23, 1856, and served as such until Jan. 20 of the present year.

Judge Enright's Reply

Judge Enright in replying to Judge Hadley's congratulations and good wishes said: "I wish to extend my sincere thanks to my predecessor and also to the members of the bar association for their loyalty towards me. I intended to come here in a quiet way and immediately proceed to business, but my friend, Judge Hadley, spoke to me and said he wished to be present." Judge Enright then told of how he was present in the court room when Judge Hadley first presided, and said both have always been the best of friends. He thanked Judge Pickman and Judge Fisher for the aid they had tendered since he took the oath of office. He also extended his thanks to Clerk Savage for his courtesy and kindness, as well as to the members of the bar association for their loyal support up to the time of his appointment. Continuing the judge said: "I will endeavor to fill the office of judge to the best of my ability, and I assure you that if I make errors they will be of judgment and not of the heart."

Mayor O'Donnell

Mayor James F. O'Donnell then came to the front and spoke in part as follows: "Your Honor, I came here as a friend of yours to congratulate you, the city and the governor, for the choice of judge for this police court could not have been better. When you consider the large number of names that were sent to the governor for appointment, it is a great tribute to you personally to think that you have been selected for this high office. As mayor of Lowell and as a personal friend of yours, I hope you will be here for many years, and I am confident that you will rule faithfully and impartially."

At the close of Mayor O'Donnell's remarks the new judge was congratulated by the others present, with most cordial handshakes. A few minutes later the seven drunken offenders, who were arrested yesterday, were taken upstairs before Judge Enright, and inasmuch as they were all first offenders, His Honor released them.

The beautiful flowers which served as a pretty decoration for His Honor's desk, were contributed as follows: Bouquet of roses and asters, Judge John J. Pickman and Judge Frederick E. Fisher; bouquet of carnations and asters, the associates in Judge Enright's law office; bouquet of asters and roses, John J. McManmon; bouquet of roses and asters and another of asters, Rev. John J. O'Hearn of Peabody; bouquet of roses and asters, Ethel Enright, daughter of the judge; bouquet of roses and asters, Probation Officer Edward F. Slattery; bouquet of roses and asters, May Enright, sister to the judge, as well as several others. Judge Hadley was also the recipient of a large bouquet of roses and asters from Probation Officer Slattery.

The session was a very brief one. Two cases were tried before His Honor, that of Antonia Bikowicz, who was charged with assault and battery on Kosenzenia Radzicki. The defendant pleaded guilty and as the offense was a minor one, a fine of $5 was imposed.

The other case was that of May Dolan, who was arrested on a warrant charging her with assault and battery on Nellie E. Henshaw. In this case the complainant claimed that while sitting on a step next to the defendant's in Madison place, Mrs. Dolan threw a pail of water over her. After hearing the testimony of several witnesses, the court found the defendant not guilty and ordered her discharge. J. Joseph O'Connor appeared for the defendant. The case was the first tried before the new judge.

ARCHBALD CASE
NOT YET DECIDED

U. S. Senate Has Adjourned Till Saturday

COUNSEL WANTED
MORE TIME

In Which to Prepare His Defense

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—After a session of an hour the senate today, sitting as a court of impeachment in the case of Judge Robert Archbald, adjourned until 2 p. m. Saturday without deciding whether the trial shall go on at once or wait over until fall.

Judge Archbald's counsel protested that his defense could not be prepared before Oct. 15. Chairman Clayton of the house committee of managers declared against any delay, but agreed to wait until Saturday before forcing a decision.

The house committee's replication to Judge Archbald's answer to the charges against him filed today is a complete denial of all the judge's contentions. An attempt to consider the time of trial in executive session was vigorously opposed by several senators and defeated.

LAWYER TOBIN
ASKS FOR THE IMPEACHMENT
OF JUSTICE WRIGHT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Speaker Clark received in his mail today from Francis T. Tobin, a lawyer of Philadelphia a petition for the impeachment of Justice Daniel T. Wright of the district of Columbia supreme court because of a recent decision in which he convicted Samuel Gompers, Frank Murphy and John Mitchell for contempt of court.

Speaker Clark referred the petition to the public judiciary committee without comment.

HAMILTON HOLT
MAKES A PLEA FOR THE EN-DOWED NEWSPAPER.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 1.—Hamilton Holt of the Independent, New York, made a plea for the endowed newspaper, speaking at the national newspaper conference today on the topic "Can commercial journalism make good, or must we look for the endowed newspaper?"

"We may even look," he predicted, "for the municipal, national, or international paper if present conditions are a correct guide to future action." The speaker, he said, was not as thorough and impartial as the national papers should be. It is not possible, under the present system, to present all sides of a question in a commercially-owned paper.

He saw no danger of its becoming reactionary, if managed by the right kind of men. There are many college presidents who could edit a paper better than can many of the $15,000 editors of commercial papers, he declared.

RAY BRONSON
PRIZE FIGHTER BADLY INJURED
IN AUTO ACCIDENT

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Aug. 1.—Ray Bronson, Indianapolis prize fighter, is in a local hospital suffering from concussion of the brain, as a result of an auto accident near here last night. Bronson was still unconscious today, but physicians said he probably would recover. Fred Ankler, who was with Bronson, was slightly hurt.

Bronson, who was driving from Fort Wayne to Indianapolis, lost control of the machine near a culvert and it tumbled down a five foot embankment.

TO INSPECT ARTILLERY

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Governor Foss, accompanied by Adjutant General Pearson left the Charlestown navy yard today on board the torpedo boat Rodgers to make an official visit and inspection of the first battalion, Massachusetts coast artillery in camp at Fort Warren.

DEATHS

CUTREMBAS—Jarvis, aged 2 days, child of Mr. and Mrs. John Curedas, died today at the Lowell General hospital. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Napoleon Bilodeau.

AUERBACH—Arno O. Auerbach, aged 6 months and 23 days, son of Arno and Margaret, died this morning at their home, 55 Plain street.

CHATHAM HAS CELEBRATION
CHATHAM, Aug. 1.—The 20th anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Chatham was celebrated today. More than 4000 visitors, many of them former residents of the town, gathered to enjoy a big dinner served in a tent, and literary and historical exercises.

BAND CONCERT POSTPONED
Because of the unpropitiousness of the weather (whatever that means) the band concert scheduled to take place at 8 o'clock tonight on the South common has been postponed. Notice of the postponement was given out at the mayor's office this morning. The concert will be held some other day when the weather is in a more amiable mood and when the grass is dry on the common.

Owing to the unsettled condition of the weather, the open air moving picture performance by the General Film Co., of Boston, which was to be presented on the grounds of St. Anthony's church, Saturday evening, has been postponed for one week.

STRIKING WEAVERS
SEEK CONFERENCE

With the New Bedford
Manufacturers

A COMMUNICATION
SENT TO MILL MEN

I. W. W. Official Says the Strike is Over

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 1.—William Devoll stated this morning that he had received the communication from the weavers union but that he would not give out the contents until he had submitted it to the association for action. Asked if the Manufacturers' association would be called together today to act on the communication Mr. Devoll said that he could not tell. At Labor headquarters this morning satisfaction was expressed that the weavers had taken some action towards trying to get a conference with the manufacturers.

At the Industrial Workers of the World headquarters the move of the weavers was discussed and Secretary Parkinson said that to him it indicated that the weavers pushed on by the other craft unions, were trying to get out of acknowledged defeat as gracefully as possible.

"Why, the strike is all over," said Secretary Parkinson, "and when the mill gates open all there will be to it will be a grand rush to see who can get in first."

MINORITY REPORT
ON BILL TO INVESTIGATE NA-TIONAL BANKS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—A minority report on the Pule bill to give the money trust committee power to investigate affairs of national banks has been prepared by five members of the senate finance committee. The minority urges the granting of the desired power as restricted that a congressional committee can only pursue its investigations within the authority conferred on it by congress. The senate finance committee has adversely reported the Pule bill and the matter will be fought out on the floor of the senate.

CLERK PICKETT

GOING TO ENGLAND TO GET IS-MAY'S TESTIMONY

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 1.—Charles E. Pickett, clerk of the United States court, who is the master in the inquiry into an alleged steamship combination, will sail on Aug. 23 for Southampton, England, to get the testimony of J. Bruce Ismay, head of the International Mercantile Marine Co., on the question of steamship rates. He will be accompanied by two lawyers representing the United States government. It is understood that Mr. Ismay is unable to come to this side of the Atlantic at present, but he will appear before Mr. Pickett on Sept. 2.

MAN MURDERED
HE HAD RECENTLY TESTIFIED
AGAINST TWO ITALIANS

GLEN COVE, L. I., Aug. 1.—Carmelo Crapa gave testimony recently in the local court that sent away two of his Italian countrymen to prison for assaulting a young girl. This morning Crapa's body was found lying alongside the railroad tracks. The body was covered with fifty knife wounds and the severed head lay nearby.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

MAY FORM ORGANIZATION TO
BOOM WILSON

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 1.—Gov. Wilson received today a suggestion from W. H. Samford of Montgomery, Ala. that a nation-wide organization of school teachers be formed to work for Wilson during the campaign. The governor was pleased with the idea and Mr. Samford probably will be the National Chairman. Mr. Samford and other members of the campaign committee to discuss the matter.

The governor said today that as yet no names had been formally placed before him for ratification as treasurer or vice chairman of the campaign.

SCHEPPS GOT $1000
TO PAY GUNMEN

District Attorney Investigating
Stories That Lieut. Becker
is Worth $1,000,000

since its investigation into the Rosenthal case for a few days, and that such time as the district attorney has more needed testimony in hand. Whitman is investigating stories that Becker is worth nearly a million dollars.

The appearance of Sam Schepps is keenly awaited at the prosecutor's office. Schepps and Rose were together just before the murder was committed. Rose, in a further confession to Whitman, says that a few minutes after Rosenthal was killed Weber threatened by Becker, turned over $1000 in bills to Rose, who, in turn, gave the money to Schepps.

Rose says that Schepps gave the money to the gunmen—Harry Horowitz, otherwise known as "Gib the Blood" and Louis Rosenzweig. If Schepps corroborates Rose's statement it will be of material advantage to the public prosecutor, Schepps, it is understood, will be treated leniently if he can show that he did not pull a trigger.

"DAGO FRANK"
IDENTIFIED AS MAN IN THE MUR-DER CAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—"Dago Frank" Croliel, one of the four gunmen wanted for the killing of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, was identified today as being in the gray murder car at the time of the shooting. The identification, which was made by three men, took place a few minutes before Croliel was taken before the grand jury with the apparent purpose of shaking the nerve of the gunman and forcing a complete confession from him. One of those who identified Croliel along with William Shapiro, driver of the murder car, was a man whom officials of the prosecutor's office refer to as the "unknown." Croliel appeared to be greatly shaken by the appearance of the "unknown," and a confession of the gunman seemed imminent, officials of the district attorney's office said.

J. W. Hart, counsel for Becker, was taken before the grand jury and asked about an affidavit he is supposed to have obtained from Rose before the latter surrendered. Hart declined to answer on the ground that he would be unfair to Becker. He was thereupon taken before Judge Mulqueen, who instructed him to answer. District Attorney Whitman then had the lawyer taken back to go to the grand jury room.

LONDON POLICE

PLACED ON GUARD AT THE DOCKS

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Elaborate precautions were taken today to prevent a repetition of yesterday's rioting in the neighborhood of the London docks. Large forces of police were detailed early this morning to occupy strategic points near the dock gates and all the men entering the docks were searched for weapons before they were allowed to proceed.

Several minor fights took place between the union and non-union laborers and a few arrests were made. The union laborers are rapidly taking the places of the free laborers who worked throughout the ten weeks' strike.

THE FIREMEN

HAVE HAD NOTHING TO DO FOR SEVERAL DAYS

All the members of the local fire department are this week enjoying a vacation, or at least they term it that, for there was not a single alarm for fire since last Sunday.

Last week the department was quite busy, but this week they are enjoying a rest. The board at the Central fire station in Middle street on which the weekly fire records are kept, is as clean as a whistle, not even a telephone alarm for a smoking chimney being registered. However, as someone remarked this afternoon the fire fighters may not be idle very long and when they get to work they may pay up for the few days' rest.

MRS. GRACE'S TRIAL

WITNESSES FOR DEFENSE WERE HEARD TODAY

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 1.—Outlining the defense in the trial of Daisy Opto Grace, accused of having attempted to kill her husband, Eugene, counsel for Mrs. Grace today told the jury that Grace received a bullet wound during the scuffle with his wife after a quarrel over the sale of the woman's property.

The attorney declared that Grace tried to shoot his wife after choking her and during the scuffle which followed the weapon was discharged. The attorney declared Grace made his wife leave home because he did not think he was badly hurt and he feared he would be disgraced if it became known that he was shot in a "nigger row" with his wife.

The first witness for the defense was M. O. Jackson, a telephone official, who identified Grace's handwriting.

MORE STRIKERS OUT WORK

BRIDGEWATER, Aug. 1.—The strike of shoe-workers at the local plant of the W. H. McGowan Co. was increased today by about 30 operatives leaving their machines and joining the 130 workers who remained away from their benches yesterday. One striker was arrested on a technical charge of obstructing the sidewalk. The strike at the McGowan factory began last March, when the last year's force quit work to enforce a demand that the company recognize the boot and shoe workers union, treat with the union and bring the wages paid at Bridgewater up to the level paid by the shoe factories in Brockton.

GREAT BRITAIN

TO WITHDRAW FROM BRUSSELS
SUGAR CONVENTION

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Sidney Buxton, president of the board of trade, announced in the commons today that it was the intention of Great Britain to withdraw from the Brussels Sugar convention on the ground that the terms of the protocol increasing the amount of sugar to be exported by Russia were unsatisfactory to the British government.

LAWYER DONAHUE

SURRENDERED TO THE SHERIFF
IN CHICAGO TODAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Attorney Daniel Donahue and Miss Aileen Heppner, indicted by the Cook county grand jury for alleged conspiracy to defame Clarence S. Funk, surrendered to the sheriff today and were released in bonds of $2500. Miss Heppner also faces a perjury charge growing out of her testimony in the trial of the suit of John C. Henning against Mr. Funk for $25,000 damages for the alleged alienation of the affections of Mrs. Henning. Dan was Henning's lawyer and was said by Mrs. Henning to have supplied her with money to induce her to share in the attack on Mr. Funk.

SUGAR CONVENTION

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Sidney Buxton, president of the board of trade, announced in the commons today that it was the intention of Great Britain to withdraw from the Brussels Sugar convention on the ground that the terms of the protocol increasing the amount of sugar to be exported by Russia were unsatisfactory to the British government.

MUST STAND LOSS

AGED BOSTON WOMAN MAY LOSE
HER HOME.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Behind a mortgage that is soon to be foreclosed on a Boston home and the enforced removal of the elderly widow who has lived in it nearly 40 years, is an interesting story of the theft of United States bonds and their redemption by the treasury department. The name of the woman is withheld by Senator Lodge, who has in vain sought to find some way of relieving the distressed widow.

Back in 1878 the husband put a mortgage on the home in Boston which he had bought out of small earnings of his business and bought $500 in non-registered United States bonds. He slipped the bonds into his pocket after he had bought them and went back to his shop.

A short time later visitors came to the store and spent a considerable time in looking over the stock. They left without making any purchases and when the proprietor put on his coat that evening, preparatory to closing up, his bonds were gone. They were never recovered.

An appeal was recently made by the widow to Senator Lodge to see if something could be done to restore the bonds to her. They are, however, non-registered bonds, and about as easily identified as $1000 bills. Lee McClung, treasurer of the United States, has written Senator Lodge: "Investigation reveals that all of the bonds have been retired, some by conversion to bear a lower rate of interest and others by redemption. No two of the bonds were received in the same case or at the same time." It is understood that some of these bonds were sent in by most reputable business men.

GOVERNOR FOSS

NAMED MISS GILLESPIE ON MIN-IMUM WAGE COMMISSION

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Governor Foss sent to the executive council yesterday his nominations for the minimum wage commission as provided for by an act of the present legislature. The nominees are: H. LaRue Brown, of Boston, chairman; Arthur H. Holcombe of Cambridge; and Miss Mabel Gillespie of Boston. The former wage commission was appointed last year, and after an investigation of conditions, it recommended the establishment of a permanent board.

This permanent commission has power to investigate the wage conditions of women in any industry, to appoint an auxiliary board representing employers, employees and the public, to consider cases that may arise, and to recommend a minimum wage as the result of this procedure.

Charles L. Carr of Dorchester was nominated as a member of the Boston finance commission to succeed Francis N. Balch, who declined a reappointment. Other nominations made yesterday were:

Henry M. Lynch of Brookline as member of the board of boiler rules in place of B. Scannell, who declined reappointment; Mary L. McQuis of Springfield as trustee of the Moonson state hospital; Allen R. Smith of Newton to succeed herself as trustee of the state infirmary and state farm; William H. Regan of Boston as member of the board of registration in optometry, in place of W. L. Dwyer, resigned; and D. Chester Parsons of Shirley, as clerk of the first district court, North Andover, to succeed George W. Sanderson, retired.

SUPT. OF STREETS

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 1.—At its semi-monthly meeting last night the board of public works, on motion of John Haggerty, declared the office of superintendent of streets vacant. Before the motion was put Mayor Barry asked Supt. E. B. Rice, who was present, if he had anything to say in reply to the letter from the mayor of July 22, asking for his resignation. Mr. Rice replied that he had not.

Mr. Haggerty moved that Patrick Dolan, the foreman of streets on the north side of the river, also act as foreman on the south side until the board can make a permanent arrangement, and the board so voted.

After the meeting Mayor Barry said that Supt. Rice had been giving satisfaction for some time and as he held the position at the pleasure of the board it was decided to give him a chance to resign. Mayor Barry declined to state the reason, but if Mr. Rice desires specifications, he added, they would be furnished him.

LAKEVIEW DANCE HALL

Souvenirs will be presented to all visitors at the Lakeview dance hall tonight. The latter are of a very beautiful design and all lovers of dancing should visit the hall tonight where they are sure to have an enjoyable time, and the little souvenir may be kept as a pleasant reminder of the happy evening. The music at the hall is exceptionally fine, and particularly well given are the piccolo and drum duets by Messrs. Pieronette and Paul, who are experts at their instruments. Mr. Paul also plays several solos on the xylophone and bells that are bound to please. The floor is in fine condition, and the surroundings are very picturesque. Tomorrow night another special attraction will be introduced, the latter being the "Surprise Waltz." While the exact makeup of the novelty has not been given out, to say that it will be a hummer. To this number appropriate music will be played, and the management says that it will not only prove enjoyable to the participants but will also appeal to those who witness its execution from the hall pavilion.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Prince Edward and his company had the largest house of the season last night. The audience was more than pleased giving from the applause. "The Cowboy and the Dude" is cleverly written; the action is brisk and varied; the comedy is genuine and heartily; wholly free from all unpleasant hints. "The Romeo and Juliet" scene in the fourth act is a clever idea. The climax of each act affords both amusement and surprise.

The entire cast is seen at its best. Only six more times are left to those who wish to witness this beautiful drama as Prince Edward and his company close their engagement at this theatre Saturday.

WARNING TO THE VACATIONISTS GREAT CLOUDBURSTS CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE

Local Health Official Says They May Bring Disease to City

An official of the board of health talked today with a representative for The Sun about vacationists bringing disease to the city from unsanitary summer resorts. "The vacation season," he said, "is one of the worst we have to contend with, and vacationists should be especially careful of the water which they drink while they are away."

"We generally look for an increase in typhoid and scarlet fever about the time that most of the vacationists are returning and when the schools open. Take last year, for instance. On June 1 we had two cases of typhoid fever and on September 1 we had 13 cases. On June 1, we had had only three cases of scarlet fever reported and only two in August, but by the first of November the number of cases reported had increased to 42."

"People go away to the country and the beaches by the thousands. Most of them get a bit careless while they are away. They are looking for a good time or a rest, whichever it may be, and many put up with serious inconveniences which they would not tolerate at home, just for the sake of being away."

"Quite a number of the summer places which cannot boast of even fair sanitary conditions at any time, are positive health menaces and death traps during the height of their busy season. Frequently the water and milk supply of these places is bad, and countless persons leave the country and the seashore, particularly the former, to go home to die of typhoid fever or some other disease that a little care might have avoided."

"Every vacationist who goes away on his vacation should take a few precautions of his stopping place. He should find out where the water that is used for drinking purposes comes from and how it gets to the table."

"Let everyone be sure the water is clean and good, otherwise don't drink it until it has been boiled. If the kitchen of the place where you are stopping is teeming with flies, and apparently little effort is being made to keep them away from the food, then it is up to you to find another place to stay, or come home."

"A little care in these directions may take a little time, but it is likely to save many lives, and incidentally will help the board of health to keep the city healthy."

Hundreds of Tourists Were Marooned in Colorado Springs—Many Cattle Lost

DENVER, Aug. 1.—Cloudbursts, followed by raging torrents in gulches, the overflowing of the banks of rivers, inundating of railroad tracks, washing away of crops and cattle and paralyzing of railroad traffic, causing many thousands dollars damage, were reported from several sections of the state last night.

Hundreds of tourists were marooned in Colorado Springs because the railroad tracks in both directions had been carried out. Anxiety was felt by the farmers in the Springs section because of a telephonic warning that Mount Democrat was weakening under the strain of the flood incident to the heavy rains.

The loss of many head of cattle was reported from Kaner, where the heavy rains were interspersed with hail. The Arkansas river at Pueblo was at the highest point of the year, although no alarm was felt. Florence, Col., a small town just west of Pueblo, was reported to be inundated. No loss of life was reported from any point.

FUNERALS

KEANE—The funeral of Mary E. Keane took place Wednesday afternoon from the home of her parents, Thomas and Theresa Keane, 321 Lawrence street, and was well attended. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Laid on the newly made grave were the following floral offerings: Spray of roses, Mary Kane; spray of pinks, Alice and Margaret McQuade; and a spray of roses, from Mrs. McGee and family. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons had charge.

GOING TO COLORADO SPRINGS

Wm. F. Thornton Left Today for K. of C. Convention

William F. Thornton, district deputy supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, left Lowell today for Colorado Springs, Colorado, where he will attend the meeting of the national council of the order, as a delegate from the Bay State. District Deputy Thornton has long taken an interest in the workings of the Knights of Columbus in Lowell and elsewhere, and his election as delegate from Massachusetts is a striking tribute to his efficient work in the up-building of the knights in Massachusetts.

Mr. Thornton left Lowell today and there was a large gathering of knights at the station to see him off. Yesterday the school janitors of the city, of whom he is supervisor, presented him with an elegant traveling case, while the employees of the school supply room gave him a box of fragrant cigars.

The session of the Knights of Columbus in Colorado this year promises to be a most important one and advance information at hand shows tremendous increases in membership, with Massachusetts leading in New England.

The term of Matthew Mahorner, Jr.,

WILLIAM F. THORNTON

of Mobile, Alabama, and well known in Lowell, as a member of the board of directors, expires this year. A royal welcome will be given the delegates by the Colorado Knights.

FORMER PUPILS TO HOLD REUNION

Arrangements for the Event Have Been Made

The executive committee of l'Association des Anciens Elèves du College St. Joseph held an important meeting at the home of the treasurer, Joseph F. Montminy, 840 Moody street, last night. Considerable business concerning the first annual meeting of the association which is to be held on August 15, was brought before the meeting and the program for the day was completed.

August 1 had been set as the last day for subscription, but it was decided last night to take in new members until Sunday, August 11.

Rev. Bro. Chryseuil, S. M., the first director of St. Joseph's college, who was recently unanimously elected honorary president of the association is expected to arrive in this city a week from Sunday. He is now stationed at Montreal, where he is director of a large college conducted by the Marist Brothers. His many former friends will be pleased to meet him, as well as his former pupils, many of whom are now members of the clergy.

The entire program for the day will be as follows:

At 9 a. m., solemn high mass at St. Joseph's church, the celebrant and his assistants to be members of the association. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Joseph Blais, O. M. I. At 1 o'clock special electric cars will leave Merrimack street, near the college, for Hudson, N. H., where an afternoon of sports will be spent. The return to the city will be at 6 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock a grand banquet will be held at the college hall.

The speakers at the banquet are to be Mayor James E. O'Donnell, who will respond to the "City of Lowell," Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., "The Parish," Rev. Julien Racette, O. M. I., chaplain of the association, formerly of this city and now of Plattsburg, N. Y., "Our Association," Rev. Bro. Chryseuil, S. M., "Our College Years Ago," Rev. Bro. Bernardin, S. M., "Our College at the Present Time," Edmond S. Desmarais, "Trades," E. J. Laroche, "Press," President Wilfred P. Calise, Jr., will serve as toastmaster.

The executive committee of the association is composed of the following: Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., honorary chaplain; Rev. Julien Racette, O. M. I., of Plattsburg, N. Y., chaplain; Rev. Bro. Chryseuil, S. M., honorary president; Wilfred P. Calise, Jr., president; Henri V. Charbonneau, Esq., vice president; Joseph F. Montminy, treasurer; William Trotter, secretary; Rev. Joseph Blais, O. M. I., secretary pro tem; Edmond S. Desmarais, Roderique E. Jodoin, Arthur L. Enn, Eugene Ricard and E. J. Laroche, directors.

NEW NAVAL COALING STATION SEWARD, Alaska, Aug. 1.—A party from the cruiser Maryland, which arrived here last Tuesday, has left for the Matanuska coal fields, from which it is supposed to obtain fuel for the naval coaling station to be established here. A report will be made to the secretary of the navy on the feasibility of obtaining coal from the fields for the Pacific fleet.

HEAVY TRAVEL

REPORTED ON THE BOSTON & MAINE ROAD

Owing to the big freight wreck at Bridgewater, N. H., yesterday, which was reported exclusively in The Sun, several of the employees of the baggage room at the local depot were obliged to work overtime last evening. All the trains running over the White mountain division were delayed and when the wreckage was cleared the trains came in bunches, as one of the attaches of the depot said this morning.

The Canadian Pacific, as was stated yesterday, carried many people, with Lowell as their destination, and friends of the travelers were at the depot from 6:45 in the morning until 2:12 in the afternoon when the train steamed into town. The train was well filled and several of the travelers said that the wreck was very serious. They complimented the members of the wrecking crew, saying that the latter worked hard to place the overturned cars back on the tracks.

The Canadian Pacific was thirty minutes late this morning, this being due to the heavy travel. The New York train due to leave Lowell at 11:25 was six minutes late, due to the large number of travelers. There were nine coaches on the train and all were well filled when the engine tooted its whistle and started out of the depot.

SUPT. LAKE

ACCEPTS POSITION WITH WEST-ERN ROAD

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 1.—An official statement issued by the New Haven system says: "Mr. C. S. Lake, who has made a creditable record as superintendent of the western division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, has decided to become general superintendent of a western road. His successor will be announced in a few days."

Mr. Lake, in confirming his resignation, simply says he will go to a road which has its headquarters in Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Harley of 55 Fremont street, this city, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Ralph Hickey.

$7000 DAMAGE

WAS CAUSED BY LIGHTNING AT IPSWICH.

IPSWICH, Aug. 1.—Lightning caused damage estimated at $7000 here today. A bolt struck a barn at the Ipswich poor farm, destroying that building, a silo shed, farming tools and wagons and 46 tons of hay. Twelve cows and a horse were killed.

GERMAN DOCTOR

SAYS HE CURED 41 PATIENTS OF CANCER.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—Adolph Zeller, a prominent Berlin doctor, has presented before a conference of German physicians, 41 patients who, he declared, he has entirely cured of cancer without operation. Ten of the original 51 are still under treatment and only three have died. The details of the method of treatment have not yet reached this country.

NEVADA COURT

SAYS CONVENTIONS SHOULD NOMINATE ELECTORS

RENO, Nev., Aug. 1.—The supreme court of Nevada decided yesterday that the nomination of presidential electors by state conventions is the proper procedure and that electors are not required to be nominated by state primaries in September.

The question arose on an ambiguous wording of the amended state primary act.

A SENSATION

IS LOOKED FOR AT THE DARROW TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 1.—The deepening of cryptogram messages by District Attorney Ford through his discovery of the secret code used by Clarence S. Darrow, provided an unexpected sensation in the Darrow bribery trial. The messages disclosed yesterday were part of a large number of telegrams secured by the authorities engaged in the dynamic investigation. When Darrow resumed the stand for further examination today it was expected he would be questioned throughout the day.

JUDGE HANFORD'S CASE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—A report recommending the dismissal of impeachment proceedings against Federal Judge Hanford has been prepared by Representatives Graham and McCoy, members of the house judiciary committee, who heard testimony in Seattle against the jurist. It probably will be submitted to the committee next Tuesday.

Judge Hanford's resignation is being held at the White House for the committee's action.

BOLD ATTEMPT

TO BLOW UP A SALOON IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Dynamiters today attempted to blow up the saloon of "Manny" Abrahams, the first legislator to vote for William Lorimer on the ballot which sent Mr. Lorimer to the United States senate. Abrahams told the police he could think of no one who had so serious a grudge against him to seek to harm him. No one was in the saloon.

COMMENDED BY THE CITY BEAUTIFUL COMMITTEE

The following letter from the city beautiful committee of the Lowell Board of Trade to Commissioner Cummings is self-explanatory:

Lowell, Mass., July 31, 1912.
Mr. Lawrence Cummings, Commissioner of Public Property, Lowell, Mass.:
Dear Sir—I have been instructed by vote of the city beautiful committee of the Lowell Board of Trade to convey to you the appreciation of the committee for your co-operation in the work of the committee.

The committee passed a vote commending your action in regard to the removal of signboards and your attitude in regard to the granting of permits for the erection of others.

With kindest regards, I am,
Respectfully yours,
John H. Murphy, Secretary.

PLENTY OF HELP

TO WORK IN WHEAT FIELDS IN NORTHWEST.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 1.—The call for labor in the vast wheat fields of the American Northwest, recently printed in eastern newspapers, is having a wholesome effect and labor agencies here and elsewhere north of Chicago note an influx of men from Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

The secretary of the Duluth Commercial Club stated today that the men are not needed in this vicinity, but in the grain fields of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and on railroads in Canada and in the woods of the northwest.

BACHELOR GIRLS

ELECTED OFFICERS FOR DANCING PARTY TO BE HELD

The recently organized M. T. I. Bachelor Girls held a very important meeting in Matthew hall, Dutton street, on Tuesday evening, with Miss Rose McDonough, president, in the chair. All members were present and there was considerable enthusiasm during the meeting. The girls are taking great interest in the meetings of the organization and are very enthusiastic over its success.

Six members were admitted, and now there are forty young ladies connected with the club. There has been a limit of 50 set and the members are confident that by the next regular meeting the membership will be completed. It was decided at the meeting that a dancing party will be held at the Willow Dale hall on Friday evening, Aug. 23, the receipts of the party to be turned into the treasury of the new club.

The next business taken up was the election of the officers to have charge of the party, and the results were as follows: General manager, Miss Rose McDonough; assistant general manager, Miss Mae T. Gallagher; floor director, Miss Alice Mearley; assistant floor director, Miss Anna Muldoon; chief aid, Miss Eleanor Buckley. The other members of the club will act as aids. The tickets for the party will be distributed at the next regular meeting of the Bachelor Girls, which will be held on Tuesday evening, and owing to the success that the girls have accomplished in the past they feel confident that there will be a large attendance at the party.

A special meeting of the club has been called for this evening, to take action on an invitation to give a concert at Willow Dale Sunday next.

CITIZENS OF TOKIO

WANT THE EMPEROR BURIED IN THAT CITY

TOKIO, Aug. 1.—The mayor and citizens of Tokio are attempting to secure the selection of Tokio as the place of interment of Mutsuhito. It is believed, however, that it will take place on the site of Maruyama palace at Kio, which was built by Hyeidooshi in the 16th century. Business has been resumed practically in all branches. The banks have reopened their doors and international exchange is going on as usual.

PRES. TAFT NOTIFIED

Just before noon and the guests to the White House proper at the same time, a march of the committee from the office to the east room, the notification speech of Senator Root and his own words of acceptance were the only formalities the president wished. Unofficially the word had gone out that the notification ceremonies were to be as informal as possible and next to lay aside frock coats and neckties. The order had been given for the president's aides to appear in summer uniforms of white, but the marine band which plays at all White House affairs, knows no uniform but coats of scarlet.

The custom, begun by the Tafts, of serving buffet lunch to the notification committee, was observed in the small room asked to be present today. The state dining room was ready for the luncheon after the program of speechmaking and handshaking.

Members of the notification committee in Washington for the event include: Connecticut, Frank B. Weeks; Maine, Edward Lawrence; New Hampshire, Charles Floyd; Rhode Island, R. L. Beekman.

Surrounded by his family and friends in the historic East room of the White House, the president received from Senator Root, chairman of the committee of notification, his first official notification of the convention action.

"Your title to the nomination is as clear and unimpeachable as the title of any candidate since political conventions began," said Senator Root at the conclusion of his address.

"I accept the nomination which you now tender," replied President Taft in beginning his speech of acceptance. "I accept it as an expression of confidence that in a second administration I will serve the public well."

Though the room was well filled it was not uncomfortable.

Senator Root's speech, delivered in the tones so well known in the senate chamber, was heard by all and when he finished the president began reading his speech of acceptance, a printed document of some ten thousand words. The president read in his usual clear and deliberate manner and as he proceeded the guests remained standing.

Moving picture machine operators perched upon points of vantage in the corners of the room checked off thousands of feet of film while Senator Root and the president were speaking. It was the first time a moving picture had been taken in a White House. The state department will preserve one of the rolls in its archives. As the president proceeded to speak on the issues he followed the text of his manuscript almost to the letter. It appeared that the week spent in its preparation had been one of close attention. When the president came to the portion wherein he referred to the "maintenance of the nation's institutions and the preservation of the constitution" many of his hearers thought he spoke with feeling. Then when he launched into a denunciation of those who he said were responsible "for the popular unrest" the president spoke with considerable spirit, raising his voice and emphasizing his words by gestures.

While the president was being notified of his nomination the democrats in the house of representatives were firing a fusillade of campaign oratory and eulogizing Woodrow Wilson, the democratic nominee.

Applause interrupted the president's delivery of his speech. One outburst, lasting a little longer than the others greeted his references to Colonel Roosevelt and Governor Wilson, though he mentioned neither by name. He referred to the colonel as the "leader of those who have left the republican party" and to Gov. Wilson as "the democratic nominee."

At the conclusion of the speeches a luncheon was served and the room took on the appearance of a social function though the formalities of dress were missing.

For the first time the nomination is as clear and unimpeachable as the title of any candidate since political conventions began.

That was the keynote of Senator Elihu Root's address to President Taft here today when, as chairman of the committee of notification, he formally advised the president of his nomination by the Chicago convention.

Surrounded by the members of the committee and a hundred or so invited guests, the chairman of the convention in a brief speech delivered the official announcement.

"The committee of notification," said Senator Root, "here present, has the honor to formally advise you, formally, of the nomination of you to the presidency of the United States by the national convention of the republican party, to be the republican candidate for president for the term beginning March 4th, 1913."

"For the second time in the history of the republican party a part of its delegates have refused to be bound by the action of the convention. Now, as on the former occasion, the irreconcilable minority declares its intention to support either your democratic opponent, or a third candidate. The reason assigned for this course is dissatisfaction with the decision of certain contests in the making in the temporary roll of the convention. Those contests were decided by the tribunal upon which the law that has governed the republican party for more than forty years imposed the duty of deciding such contests."

"So long as those decisions were made honestly and in good faith all persons were bound to accept them as conclusive in the making up of the temporary roll of the convention, and neither in the facts and arguments produced before the national committee, the committee on credentials and the convention itself, nor otherwise, could they appear just ground for impeaching the honesty and good faith of the committee's decisions. Both the making up of the temporary roll, and the rights accorded to the persons upon that roll, whose seats were contested, were in accordance with the long established and unquestioned rules of the governing party, and founded upon justice and common sense. Your title to the nomination is as clear and unimpeachable as the title of any candidate of any party since political conventions began."

"Your selection has a broader basis than a mere expression of choice between different party leaders representing the same ideas. You have been nominated because you stand pre-eminently for certain fixed and essential principles which the republican party maintains. You believe in the rule of law rather than the rule of men. You realize that the only safety for nations as for individuals, is to establish and abide by declared principles of action. You are in sympathy with the great practical rules of right conduct that the American people have set up for their own guidance and self-restraint in the limitations of the constitution, the limitations upon governmental and official power essential to the preservation of liberty and justice. You know that to sweep away those wise rules of self-restraint would not be progress but decadence. You know that the great declarations of principle in our constitution cannot be made an effective guide to conduct in any other manner than by judicial judgment upon attempts to violate them, and you maintain the independence, dignity and authority of the courts of the United States. You are for progress along all the lines of national development, but for progress which still preserves the good we already have and holds fast to the essential elements of American institutions which have made our country prosperous and great and free. You represent the spirit of kindly consideration by every American citizen towards all his fellows, respect for the right of adverse opinion, peaceable methods of settling differences—the spirit and method which have brought us to the present position of peace and justice and liberty for millions of your countrymen who believe as you do will stand with you, and the great party which was born in the struggle for constitutional freedom will support you."

President Taft Accepts
President Taft's formal speech of acceptance of the nomination of the Chicago convention was delivered here today to the official committee of notification, headed by Senator Root and a few invited guests.

Although Mr. Taft defined in detail the issues of the campaign as he saw them, he reserved the right to amplify his statement in a letter as the campaign develops.

The supreme issue that confronts the voters, the president declared, was that of the maintenance of the nation's institutions and the preservation of the constitution, threatened, he said, on the one hand by the Democratic party and on the other by those Republicans who had left the party to try their fortunes in a new one.

Next in importance Mr. Taft placed the tariff. In the proposals of the Democrats for reductions in the present schedules, he said, lay danger of business depression and hard times. The republican principle of revision only where scientific investigation shows it necessary, marked the straight road to continued prosperity and commercial peace.

In discussing the tariff, the President said that it was untrue that its door could be traced the high cost of living, and pointed out that conditions of living were alike over the world. A political promise could not remedy such a condition, he said.

Regulation of Trusts

As an issue only less important than the tariff, the President placed the regulation of trusts. He said the Sherman law had been enforced with success, but added that specific acts of unfair trade should be denounced as misdemeanors that such acts might be avoided or when committed punished by summary procedure. Interstate business enterprises, he said, should be offered a federal incorporation law.

Aside from these issues, the President pointed to the record of the republican party, and particularly during his own administration as an earnest of what it might be expected to do in the future if the people returned it to power in November. He attacked the Democrats at other points than the tariff, making special reference to the refusal of that party in the House of Representatives to continue the naval policy of two battleships a year. Taft did not mention either Col. Roosevelt or Gov. Woodrow Wilson by name, but referred to each. While he did not accuse either of embracing the doctrines of socialism, many of the proposals they had made, the President said, savored of its strongly. He closed with a review of his administrative achievements and appealed directly to the conservative voters of the Democratic party to join with the Republicans at the polls.

"I know that in this wide country there are many who can feel the democrats who are with the same aversion to the distance of the radical propositions of change in our form of government that are recklessly advanced to satisfy what is supposed to be popular clamor," said the president.

"They are men who revere the constitution and the institutions of their government with all the love and respect that we could possibly have, men who deplore the distance in business conditions, and are yearning for that quiet from demagogic agitation which is essential to the enjoyment by the whole people of the great prosperity which the good crops and the present conditions ought to bring us."

"To them I appeal, as to all republicans, to join us in an earnest effort to avert the political and economic revolution and business paralysis which republican defeat will bring about. Such misfortune will fall most heavily on the wage earner. May we not hope that he will see what his real interest is, will understand the shallowness of attacks upon existing institutions and deceitful promises of undefined benefit by undefined changes?"

The president had heard officially of his nomination as candidate for the lips of Senator Elihu Root of New York, chairman of the notification committee.

"I accept it," he began, "as an approval of what I have done under its mandate and as an expression of confidence that in a second administration I will serve the public well. The issues presented to the convention over which your chairman presided with such a just and open hand, made a crisis in the party's life. A faction sought to force the party to violate a valuable and time-honored national tradition by entrusting the power of the presidency for more than two terms to one man, and that man, one whose recently avowed political views would have committed the party to radical proposals involving dangerous changes in our present constitutional form of representative government and our independent judiciary. This occasion is appropriate for the expression of profound gratitude at the victory for the right won at Chicago. By that victory the republican party was saved for future usefulness."

After reviewing the legislative enactments of the republican party, the president launched into a bitter attack upon "those responsible for the popular unrest" of the present day.

"Started by sensational journalism and unjust and unprincipled muckraking," he said, "demagogues have seized the opportunity to induce the public mind that the nation is in peculiar conditions to their own advantage." In the formation of new parties the president said, these men have promised the satisfaction of unrest by the application of a panacea.

"In the ultimate analysis, I fear, the equal opportunity which those seek who proclaim the so-called social justice, involves a forced division of property and that means socialism. I venture to say there is no national administration in which more real steps of progress have been taken than in the present one. But as for the millennium, a condition in which the rich are to be made reasonably poor and the poor reasonably rich by law, we are chasing a phantom; we are holding out to those whose unrest we fear a prospect and a dream, a vision of the impossible."

"I do not say that the two gentlemen who now lead, one the democratic party and the other the former republicans who have left their party, in their attacks upon existing conditions, and in their attempts to satisfy the popular unrest by promises of remedies, are consciously embracing socialism. The truth is that they do not offer any definite legislation or policy by which the happy conditions they promise are to be brought about, but if their promises mean anything, they lead directly toward the appropriation of what belongs to one man, to another."

"The truth is, my friends, both those who have left the republican party under the inspiration of their present leader, and our old opponents, the democrats, under their candidate, are going in a direction they do not definitely know, toward an end they can not definitely describe, with but one chief and clear object and that is of acquiring power for their party by popular support through the promise of a change for the better."

"These gentlemen proposed to reform the government whose present defects, if any, are due to the failure of the people to devote as much time as is necessary to their political duties, by requiring a political activity by the people three times that which thus far the people have been willing to assume."

"But after we have changed all the governmental machinery so as to permit instantaneous expression of the people in constitutional amendments, in statutes and in recall of public agents, what then?"

"Votes are not bread, constitutional amendments are not work, referendums do not pay rent or furnish houses, recalls do not furnish clothing, initiatives do not supply employment or relieve inequalities of condition or of fortune. We still ought to have set before us the definite plans to bring on complete equality of opportunity and to abolish hardship and evil for humanity. We listen for them in vain."

The president discussed at some length the recall of judges and judicial decisions and the proposals to forbid the use of injunctions to protect property against a secondary boycott and the use of juries in contempt proceedings brought to enforce decrees or orders. The recall of decisions he labelled the "grotesque proposition by the leader of former republicans who have left their party."

"The republican party," concluded the president, "stands for none of these innovations. It refused to make changes simply for the purpose of making a change, and cultivating popular hope that in the change something beneficial, undefined, will take place. We favor the greatest good to the greatest number. We believe that we have made progress from the beginning to now and that the progress is to continue into the far future; that it is reasonable progress that experience has shown to be really useful and helpful, and from which there is no reaction to something worse. It is said that this is not an issue in the campaign. It seems to me it is the supreme issue."

BOXING, GOLF AND ATHLETICSLOWELL DROPPED GAME TO LYNN BY SCORE OF 6 TO 3Zeiser Had One Bad Inning, Allowing Opponents Five Runs in the First Stanza

LYNN, Aug. 1.—The Lowell champions lost a chance to jump up to the lead here yesterday afternoon, by dropping a game to the Oceaners by the score of 6 to 3. As Lawrence lost his game with Worcester, if Lowell had won, Manager Gray's prediction of being in the lead by the first of the month would have been fulfilled.

Lynn won the game in the first inning, when, through Zeiser's ineffectiveness and a few bad plays, the home team piled up five runs. One more was added later, and the best Lowell could do was to send three men across the plate, the score after 27 of the Lowell men were retired, being 6 to 3.

Opposing Zeiser was Red Waller, and though Lowell accumulated more hits than the Lynn bunch, they were scattered around, and generally when hits would do damage the auburn-haired boy would tighten up like a drum, and hold the game safe.

Halstein played a fine fielding game, and several spectacular plays were pulled by Shorty Dee, the Lynn boy with the Grays. Mauban's catching was very classy. Boutles and Halstein did the best hitting for Lowell, each getting a couple. For Lynn, Terry played an excellent game and the catching of "Oh Boy" Daum was great. Wallace was the only Lynn man to secure over one hit.

How it happened: First inning: Wallace barged into center field. Strands followed with a three-bagger to center, scoring Wallace. McGovern walked and when he started to steal second, Dee ran over to take Mauban's throw, and Murch hit through Dee's territory, sending Strands home. McGovern and Murch advanced on Orcutt's sacrifice. Logan hit to Miller, going out at first, but McGovern scored. Cargo hit to Dee, who batted the ball, and the Lynn short fielder was safe and Murch scored. Cargo stole second. Daum singled and Cargo scored. The inning was over when Waller forced Daum at second.

In the third Lowell scored two runs, getting the tallies after two men were out. De Groff started the good work, by singling to left. Halstein doubled to right. Miller singled to left and De Groff and Halstein came home. Boutles walked, but Dee ended the scoring on a grounder to Murch.

Lowell made one more in the fourth, and the latter came as in the preceding inning, with two men down. Clemens doubled to left and scored on Mauban's hit, but Jimmy went out when he tried to purloin second.

In Lynn's half of the fourth one run was scored. After Daum had been retired Waller hit to right for a single. Greff threw to get him at second Dee let the ball get by, but Waller was held on third. Strands died to Boutles. McGovern walked, filling the bases. Murch walked, forcing Waller home. Orcutt ended the inning by fanning, and there was no more scoring.

PFEFFER AND DEE ARE PLAYING GREAT GAME

"Big Jeff" is Pitching in Big League Form for Locals ;

"BIG JEFF" PFEFFER.

"Big Jeff" Pfeffer and "Shorty" Dee, two of the recent additions to the Lowell team, have shown much class and are responsible in no small measure for the great sport that the team has taken. Pfeffer came here when Lowell was badly in need of pitchers and since his arrival Lowell took a new lease of life and has stepped at a lively gait.

Pfeffer was at one time with the Chicago Cubs, but was traded to the Boston Nationals. While with the latter team he worked in several games, but was let go at the beginning of this season. He then secured one of the Greater Boston teams and acted as manager and play artist. The league was not very profitable, and "Jeff" began to look for a job. Manager Gray heard that he was idle and took him on.

The first game that "Jeff" worked in was at Worcester, and he went in against Bushelman, formerly of the Red Sox, and the Lowell man had the better of the game all the way. He won his game and has been winning them since. He has a great assortment of shots and a fine head. He plays his position in A1 style, and is there occasionally with the stick.

Young Dee came here practically unknown, but is now considered one of the best in the league. He is a Lynn boy, and played on several of the semi-professional teams here. At the beginning of the 1912 season he joined the Middletown team in New York and was playing a great game. Manager Gray, who watches the papers closely, happened to pick up a sheet one day and saw in the box score of a game where the "kid" made two home runs. He watched, and the next day he secured two hits and fielded his position in both contests without a slip-up.

Jimmy immediately got busy and the result is that the youngster is now a regular on the Lowell team. Lowergan, his predecessor, was a lively man and a great stickler, but he contracted a severe cold and later had a bad attack of indigestion. Later the Lowell manager was notified that "Loney" was to go to Providence and the signing of Dee was a great move.

Four Crack Washington Players Are Sending the Senators Pennantward

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Pennantitis is epidemic here. Never before in the history of the national game—and the capital has had ball teams since 1865—have the people of Washington been so worked up as they are just now over the remarkable and surprising showing the Senators have made during the present season. When the team astonished the baseball world by winning seventeen straight games the local fans lost their heads. Then came the slump and much depression. Next the Senators started on another winning streak. At present they are playing pennant winning ball and are not very far behind in the run for first place. Critics are now beginning to figure the Senators in the world's series this fall. Manager Clark Griffith has certainly worked wonders with the team. The pitching staff, weak at the start, has been bolstered up and is now strong. Walter Johnson is twirling better ball than he ever did. Gandil, whom Griffith purchased from Montreal, has developed into a great first sacker and has added great strength to the Senators. Eddie Foster, who was thought not good enough for New York, is playing a wonderful game at third sack. Catcher Henry is doing

the Grand Circuit Meet Yesterday

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—"Pop" Geers, of the former champion pacer stallion John R. Gentry, was the surprise in the 2:11 pace, winning in straight heats, taking a record of 2:05 1-2 in the first heat. Mansfield, the favorite, never being dangerous.

John E. Madden, the famous Kentucky trotter, has purchased the 3-year-old trotting colt Baldy McGregor, a money winner in the colt race yesterday, from John B. Dougan of Richmond, Ind. The reported price being $7500. The colt will be turned over to W. H. Andrews, who trains the Madden horses.

The feature of the racing tomorrow will be the $5000 stake for 2:10 trotters, in which the starters will be Baden, Cargill, Chatty Direct, Cheney, Dictator Todd, Dolly S., Elizabeth Ray, Gordon Todd, Kenyon W., Swannee and The Wanderer. The championship trotting sweepstakes will have but two starters, Billy Burk and Braco Sirdle.

During the forenoon Bavis James, trainer of the Mackenzie stable, worked the 4-year-old pacer Delroy a mile in 2:04 1-2, the last quarter of which was paced in 30 seconds.

Brockton fans are hoping that the addition of Thompson and Lotbrop will brace up the team.

Pitcher Upham will leave Brockton to join the Rochester (N. Y.) club of the International league just as soon as the check for that $2000 comes across.

Bill Harrington has been a bit off his feed for the last week or two, something that comes to all pitchers; no matter how good they are.

Notice how Gus Daum has been hitting the ball out in recent games? Rather guess he's not due to be stored away in the garret with the cobwebs yet awhile.—Lynn Item.

The Fall River worm suddenly turned Monday and by a 11th hour hustle handed a defeat to Haverhill. There are some good swaters in that aggregation of O'Brien's low as they are in the league standing.

Billy Burke pitched a game at the park Saturday that ordinarily would have been good enough to win, but his rival Severest, was in splendid form and McGovern's men couldn't help out their twister with the necessary stick work.

Manager O'Brien of Fall River is tired of seeing empty bleachers and grandstand in his home town and wishes that all his remaining games were on the road. The process of digging down for $75 to pay visiting teams daily hasn't been any too pleasant for John, either.—Exchange.

In Perkins and Pratt, Haverhill possesses as dependable a pair of backstops as any club in the league.

Manager Gray has about decided to stand pat on his present pitching lineup for the balance of the season.

now. Furthermore, each of these teams is battling consistently.

Those champs of Jimmy Gray positively decline to permit Lawrence to shake them off. They're sticking with the big show with a persistence which must be making Louis Pieper's sleep uneasy.—Exchange.

There is no better medicine in the world for a ball team than to get it in the neck for keeps once in a while, as all the latent fighting ability of the men is sure to be aroused by some such catastrophe.—Fall River News.

The opening inning did the trick, that kept Lowell in second place.

Lawrence lost, too, so the distance between the teams remains the same.

Lowell goes to Lawrence tomorrow, to line up against Smiling (?) Louie Pieper's gang and there is sure to be some excitement at the little box party. The Lawrence man is very uneasy, owing to the recent great work of the Grays, and will try hard to win tomorrow's battle. Needless to say that Jimmy Gray and his bunch are not thinking of letting the down river people get away with anything without a struggle, so the fans are in for a real treat.

On Saturday Jesse Burkett and his boys will be on at Spalding park and as Jesse's star heater, Van Dyke, is in great form, the Lowell fans may see him start the game.

Clemens who was on the sick list, returned to the game yesterday.

The regular quarterly meeting was held in the club house July 26. Several of the officers being unable to attend. It was voted to adjourn the meeting until tonight at 8 o'clock.

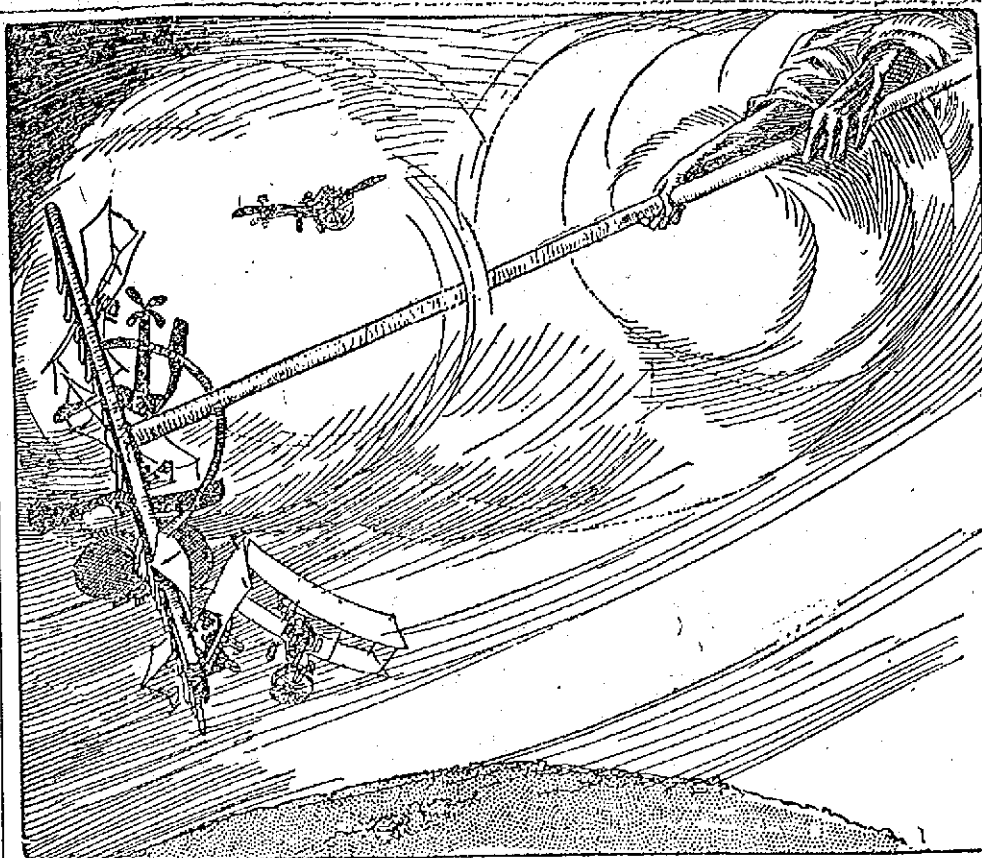

The amendments to the by-laws will be taken up. There is also other important business to come before the members.

The following is the team chosen to play against North Chelmsford at Bunting park Saturday, game called at 2:30: A. Briggs, captain; S. J. Nichols, T. Sturks, I. Shaw, J. Mitchell, F. Chapman, R. ## ANNUAL HARVEST

DEM. STATE COMMITTEE

WILL REMAIN NEUTRAL

In the Fight Between Governor Foss and District Attorney Pelletier

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—An enthusiastic demonstration for Mayor Fitzgerald's candidacy for the United States senate, the mayor's warning not to underestimate Roosevelt's strength in mill centres, a refusal of the organization to get Dist. Atty. Pelletier to withdraw from the gubernatorial fight in favor of Gov. Foss, a refusal to make any alliance with the "Bull Moose" party, and a decision to hold the state convention in this city Oct. 5, were among the features of yesterday's meeting of the democratic state committee.

Plans for a red-hot democratic campaign, the placing of candidates to oppose republicans for every office in every district and the appointment of a committee to get campaign money were also considered by the organization.

The meeting was attended by 33 of the 44 members of the organization, and letters were received from several of the absentees that they would abide by the majority vote of the committee upon every question considered.

While the majority of the members present were individually strong Foss supporters, there were some strong Pelletier men at the meeting, including former Chairman John F. McDonald of the state committee, who managed Foss' campaign for two years and who is now one of the strongest Pelletier men in the state.

Will Remain Neutral

It was before Committee Chairman McDonald reached the meeting at the Elks' clubhouse that President Maynard of the democratic city committee, whose organization endorsed Gov. Foss' candidacy for re-election some weeks ago, suggested that a committee be appointed to wait upon the gubernatorial candidates for the purpose of getting Dist. Atty. Pelletier to withdraw in favor of Gov. Foss.

When the suggestion was put up, Chairman Riley of the organization declared that it would be a waste of energy, as he felt after interviewing both candidates that they were determined to stick to the finish. Other members of the organization readily agreed with Chairman Riley and among them were Frank Richardson, who believed that a red-hot contest for the party nomination for governor would bring out a large vote. Following an extended discussion, the committee decided to remain neutral as an organization.

Prior to the regular committee meeting the executive committee met and voted to suggest that the state committee for the adoption of a platform and for the selection of presidential electors be held on Oct. 4, the day before the republican state convention. The state committee promptly turned down that suggestion and decided to have the convention at Faneuil hall on Saturday, Oct. 6, at 12 o'clock.

In past years, the democratic conventions have been held after the republican conventions for the purpose of improving upon the republican platform.

Mayor is Welcomed

Chairman Riley was authorized by the committee to appoint a committee to make up a complete slate for all the offices to be voted upon in every district, including candidates for congress, governor's council, senate and representative.

It was while action was being taken upon that motion that Mayor Fitzgerald arrived. He was received with cheers and hailed as the next United States senator. All other business was promptly suspended and the mayor was given the floor.

The mayor urged the organization to open a strenuous campaign for the election of a democratic legislature, and pointed out among other things that there are 90 doubtful representatives and 16 doubtful senatorial districts, which republicans were elected last year, and which can be made democratic by hard and systematic work. With the election of democrats in one-half of those districts, the Massachusetts legislature will be strongly democratic.

The mayor warned the members not to underestimate the Roosevelt strength in the state and more especially in the mill centres. He contended that a red-hot campaign against the Roosevelt candidacy in those places will result in placing all the mill cities and towns in the democratic column.

Following the mayor's departure, the committee unanimously opposed any alliance with "Bull Moose" candidates for office, but did agree to allow any democratic candidate to accept "Bull Moose" endorsements after securing party nominations. It was during a discussion upon that issue that many of the committeemen expressed a belief that Roosevelt is stronger than President Taft in Massachusetts.

Chairman Riley was authorized to appoint committees on finance and for the enlistment of an army of 600 campaign orators for the speakers' bureau.

CRAWFORD HOUSE, N. H., Aug. 1.—A battle royal was the result of the third round match in the singles tennis contest of the White Mountain championship played yesterday between King Smith of New York and L. H. Martin of Lowell, Mass. In the morning, when these two contestants started their match, two sets were completed before a heavy shower drenched the courts and prevented further play.

The participants agreed to play the entire match over in the afternoon, when King Smith was the victor after three sets. Martin was the faster in the morning, taking the first set in 6-3, but losing the second 5-10.

In the semi-final round in the upper half of the draw Dr. W. A. Bradford of Longwood, and W. A. Barron, Jr., of Harvard were the contestants, the former winning straight sets.

Singles third round—King Smith, New York, defeated L. H. Martin, Lowell, 3-6, 8-5, 6-3.

Semi-finals—W. A. Bradford, Longwood, defeated W. A. Barron, Jr., Harvard, 6-3, 6-2.

Doubles second round—J. G. Nelson, Dartmouth, and F. H. Harris, Longwood, defeated S. F. and M. F. Partridge, Waterville, 6-1, 6-0.

Hinchcliffe, Sharred, and W. A. Everts, Jamaica Plain, defeated W. A. Barron, Jr., Harvard, and R. B. Batchelder, Harvard, 6-0, 5-7, 6-0.

WANT GOOD ROADS

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 1.—Automobile clubs and business organizations in Connecticut have been asked to send delegates to a mass meeting in the interest of good roads to be held here Monday under direction of the Connecticut Automobile association. The main purpose is to advocate paved highways about twenty feet in width running from Portchester, N. Y., through Connecticut. The legislature will be asked to make an appropriation for this highway.

BUNTING CRICKET CLUB

The board of directors of the Bunting cricket club sincerely hopes that every member of the association will attend the postponed quarterly meeting of all the members at the club house in South Lowell tonight at eight o'clock as matters of vital and great importance to every member will be brought before the meeting for action. The reports of the financial member will be interesting to every member and the amendments to the by-laws which provide for an increase in the yearly dues, raises the entrance fee to $10 to join the association and changes the election of members of the board of directors so that after the next election four members of the board of directors will be elected every year to serve two years instead of one should prove of sufficient importance to bring every member to the meeting tonight. After the business has been disposed of a light buffet lunch and other refreshments will be served in the banquet hall and remarks for the good of the order will be made by leading members of the association. The grounds committee who has charge of the new grounds will make their report of the work which has been done up to the present time and also what is contemplated in the future.

LARGE BOW KITE USED IN EXPERIMENT

By Local Boy Who is Taking Up a Course of Electrical Engineering

The science of kite flying was exemplified in a capable manner yesterday when Robert Klitredge, aged 16 years, who is taking a course in electrical engineering, sent a large bow kite from the tower of the state armory in Westford street.

The young man, who resides in Ralph street in the rear of the armory, has made a careful study of the wind currents and from the manner in which his kite acted this afternoon he was able to secure a good knowledge of the freaks of the air. He had some difficulty in raising the kite at the start and finally succeeded but subsequently had some trouble in keeping it in the air. The kite, swayed by the different winds would go from the east to the west, would shoot upward and then made straight and circular dives. Klitredge was materially assisted by Capt. Walter R. Joyes, armorer, who has taken an interest in young Klitredge's experiments.

LOWELL POLICE WON THE BAY STATE MILITIA BY SCORE OF 12 TO 11

Metropolitan Park Team Defeated

The Lowell police baseball team won from the Metropolitan park team at Malden yesterday by the score of 13 to 11 in a very interesting game. The Lowell cops were accompanied to Malden by a large number of rooters, who were very enthusiastic during the progress of the game. The Lowell men arrived home late this afternoon, elated over their great victory.

JOS. SURPRENANT

WILL BE ABLE TO LEAVE HOSPITAL SOON

The many friends of Mr. Joseph Surprenant who was severely injured in an automobile accident a few months ago, will be pleased to learn that he will soon leave the Lowell General hospital where he has been confined since the accident. Mr. Surprenant is the only survivor of the automobile accident which occurred on the boulevard and in which Messrs. Alphonse Hibault and Adolphe Landry of this city as well as Mr. John B. Morin of Nashua lost their lives. Mr. Surprenant received severe injuries about the body and especially on one leg, which the doctors feared they would be forced to amputate in order to save his life. However, everything took a good turn and the leg was saved, and was stated at the institution this afternoon, that it was thought Mr. Surprenant would be able to leave the hospital very soon. Although his leg was saved, it is feared that the man will be forced to walk with the aid of crutches.

QUARTERLY MEETING

The quarterly meeting of District Council, No. 3, of Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amérique, will be held in Newburyport a week from Sunday, under the auspices of the council of the latter place. Inasmuch as considerable business concerning the general convention of the union which is to be held in Fall River in September, will be brought before the meeting, the session promises to be very interesting.

The program of the day will consist of a parade of the delegates and the local societies in the morning, followed by a solemn high mass at the French Catholic church at Newburyport. Immediately after the mass a shore dinner will be enjoyed at Hampton beach and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the business meeting will be held in the Union hall.

There will be delegates present from Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Amesbury, Newburyport, Lynn, Salem, Danvers, Ipswich and Forge Village. The loyal delegates will be Council J. N. Jacques, Pierre A. Brousseau and Adolphe Bouchard; Council Carillon, Joseph F. Montminy; Council Laval, J. B. Bloudeau.

THE BAY STATE MILITIA

Preparing to Start for the "Front"

Arrangements for sending members of the M. V. M. to the "front" on August 10th are well under way and brigade commissary officers and battalion quartermasters and commissaries of the Second, Fifth, Sixth and Ninth regiments and the acting commissaries of the field hospital, ambulance and signal corps met at the state house Wednesday in a conference with Major Frederick B. Hacker of the subsistence department of the regular army.

A meeting of the regimental quartermasters was also held and instructions were received from General William B. Emery. The orders issued by the war department say that the district includes cities and towns in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York. The Massachusetts troops will mobilize as follows:

Second Infantry, headquarters at Springfield; first battalion at Worcester; second battalion at Westfield; third battalion at Springfield. Fifth Infantry will assemble in Boston, and the Sixth at South Framingham. With the exception of a provisional battalion, which will start from Boston.

Ninth Infantry, with the exception of the third battalion, which will assemble in Worcester, will start from Boston. Other troops from this state will start from the nearest mobilization points.

The following troops will participate: United States army—Fifth Infantry; Tenth Cavalry; Second Battery, Third Field Artillery; Company B, First Engineers; Fifth Company A, Signal Corps; one aviation section.

New York National Guard—First Brigade; Seventh, Twelfth, Sixty-Ninth and Seventy-first regiments of Infantry; Second Brigade; Fourteenth, Twenty-third, Forty-seventh regiments of Infantry; First and Second Cavalry; Batteries A and B, Field Artillery; Signal corps and First Field Hospital company.

Massachusetts—First brigade: Second and Sixth regiments of Infantry; Second brigade: Fifth and Ninth regiments of Infantry; First company, Signal corps; First Field Hospital and First Ambulance companies.

Connecticut—First, Second and First separate company of Infantry; First Field company, Signal corps; Field Hospital and Ambulance companies.

Maine—Second regiment of Infantry. Vermont—First regiment of Infantry.

The maneuvers will be divided in two periods. The first Aug. 10 to 15 will be the "instructional period" and the second the "final period." Subsistence, fuel and forage, after the first day, will be drawn from the field supply trains of the regular army. The troops will carry full field equipment, those from this state organizing as part of the Red army.

Captain Francis C. Marshall, U. S. cavalry; Captain Russell P. Reader, C. A. C. U. S. A.; and Lieutenant Thomas D. Sloan, U. S. A., field artillery, inspector-instructors of the Massachusetts militia are assigned to act as assistant chiefs of staff during this tour of duty.

MR. EDWARD FITZWILLIAM JOHN M. WARD

Well Known in Lowell

Died in Boston

Many Lowell people will regret to hear of the death of Edward Fitzwilliam of Boston, who was well known here. He died Tuesday at his home, 27 Windom street, Allston, aged 53 years.

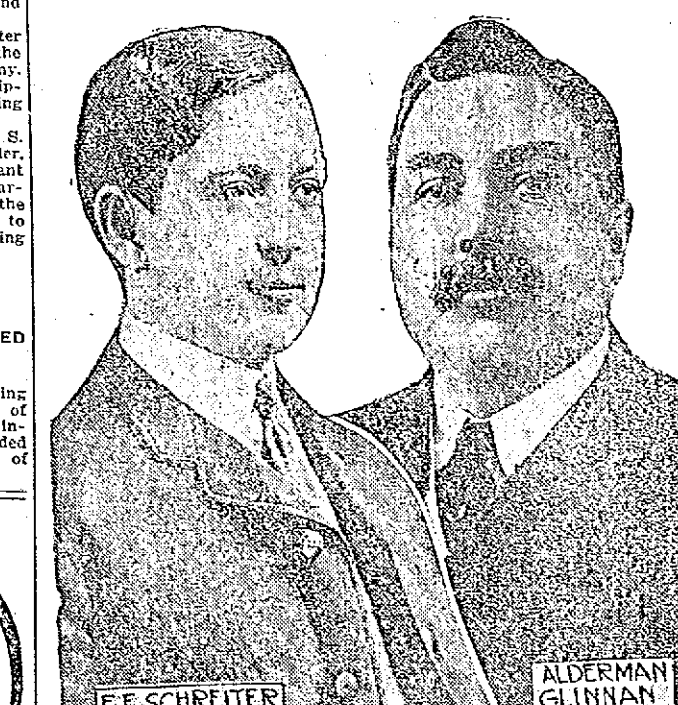

During his residence in this country he was an active worker in the cause of Irish freedom. He at one time published a weekly paper known as "The Sentinel" devoted to the cause of government reform and Irish independence. He wrote a great many poems most of them dealing with the Irish movement. In 1900 he was named the "uncrowned poet laureate" of the Boston 1915 committee. He was a poet of no mean order, many of his lines having received considerable mention in the Superintendent of St. Patrick's Sunday school in Watertown, and was absent from only four sessions during that time. He was a member of the A. O. H., the Holy Name society and the United Irish League. He leaves several volumes of poems and other writings. He addressed several meetings in Lowell some years ago.

Mr. Fitzwilliam was born in Riverston, County Sligo, Ireland, May 15, 1857, and came to this country in 1884. For about five years he was an overseer in the Etta mills in Watertown, after which he conducted a grocery and provision business for many years in that town. For many years he was custodian of the old historical and probable building on Tremont street. In September, 1886, Mr. William married Mrs. Mary A. Carter, who survives him. Twelve children were born of the union, although the majority have since died. Three sons were veterans of the Spanish war. One son is Edward C. Fitzwilliam, cashier of the Boston Post. He was well known in and around Boston and some years ago was a prominent figure at public demonstrations.

The many Lowell friends of George W. Colson, of North Billerica, who has been ill for the past eight months will be glad to learn that he is improving rapidly and that his physicians expect that he will be able to leave his bed in a few days.

Mr. Ward was the baseball man of the concern, and he came to Boston with great confidence that the proposition at the National League park was a good one.

THE MOST DURABLE STREET PAVEMENT

Although many experiments in street paving have been made in the United States, yet the opinion prevails that we have not yet discovered a really durable and serviceable pavement that is not too expensive.

Since the coming of the automobile the ordinary macadam pavement has proved a complete failure. It cannot resist the wear and tear of motor car tires, some of which are equipped with cogs or bands with chains to prevent skidding. Asphalt has proved dangerous in wet weather while some other forms of pavement are either open to the same objection or are very dusty and require frequent coats of oil.

The city of New York, like other American cities, has been wrestling with the problem of securing a pavement that will combine in the greatest degree the qualities of strength, durability and a gritty surface. New York is to make an experiment with a kind of pavement that has worn well in certain cities of Europe. It is known as durax and gets its superior qualities from the fact that the surface blocks are small, being carefully cut and fitted by hand, so that none of the joint lines will be in the lines of traffic. As there is great resistance to attrition the dust and mud objections are overcome. The surface, too, it is alleged, is practically noiseless while at the same time it offers a good footing for horses and an equally good grip for automobiles. The blocks are from two and three quarter inches to three and one half inches in size and are laid on a concrete base six inches deep. The surface of the concrete is overlaid with granite chips so that the surface blocks are on a very solid foundation. The interstices are filled with pitch or cement. Many cities in Germany and England boast that this pavement has lasted on their leading streets for over 20 years without needing repair.

In fact durax pavement differs very little from the granite block paving laid in some of our principal streets here in Lowell. Nobody expects this block pavement to need any repairs within the next 20 years. It is true that at first while the surface coat of cement is wearing off, it is somewhat dusty, but when that is gone and the granite surface is laid bare, the dust will disappear. The blocks are larger than in the durax brand; but in all other respects we do not see any reason why this block pavement laid in Central, Merrimack and other local streets is not fully as durable as that which the city of New York is to adopt as the best in the world.

THE ALDRICH CURRENCY PLAN

In the presidential campaign of 1896 free silver was the issue, and in a battle against the gold standard the latter won. Since that day the great production of gold has completely killed the free silver issue, but now another currency question quite as important has come to the front. The matter of making our currency sufficiently elastic to meet the requirements of the nation has been under discussion for years and various plans have been proposed. That which has met the most favorable consideration from republicans, however, is the Aldrich plan, providing for the abolition of government money and the substitution of corporation currency not guaranteed by the government. It would turn over to a private corporation, to be known as a central bank, the function of issuing currency. The National Reserve Association is the name given to Aldrich's central bank, and it is merely a corporation owned by the banks as the Locks and Canals company of this city is owned by the mills.

Such a proposition is dangerous in the extreme, and because it is the plan of ex-Senator Aldrich, it is open to suspicion. It was Aldrich who caused the republican party to disregard the protests of the people and to levy excessive imports on the tariff law with which his name is associated. On the currency question his plans are still more dangerous because he would turn over to private corporations the power of issuing currency that should always rest with the government alone.

The democratic platform on the banking question is quite explicit, safe and sound. It says: "Banks exist for the accommodation of the public and not for the control of business. All legislation on banking and currency should have for its purpose the securing of these accommodations on terms of absolute security to the public and of complete protection from the misuse of the power that wealth gives to those who possess it."

CREELMAN MISREPRESENTS BRITISH SYSTEM

On his return from London, where he investigated the civil service system, James Creelman, head of the civil service commission of New York, undertakes to condemn the English methods as inferior to those in use in this country. Mr. Creelman has evidently viewed the English system through American glasses and has assumed that there is as much political intrigue in England as there is in this country in regard to office-holding and the appointments to the civil service. In the following statement Mr. Creelman grossly misrepresents the English system:

"Civil service is a generation older in England than with us, and we have been taught to study and to revere the English system, but I find it is a delusion and a fraud. It allows the widest latitude to personal friendship and political favoritism. The merit system is almost unknown. As for examinations, they may be said to belong to a literary or a Chinese system. No attempt is made to examine the practical qualifications of applicants. For the position of an ordinary clerk I find a man is required to translate Latin and explain the binomial theorem."

In England the appointments are made upon merit and the examinations being competitive it often happens that the range of questions goes far beyond what is required for the offices to be filled. This apparently Mr. Creelman does not understand; but it shows the high attainments necessary to secure positions under the British civil service as a result of the competitive system impartially administered. The candidates obtain their places honestly and they discharge their duties with a degree of honesty that, to say the least, is very rare in this country.

STREET CAR SERVICE

It would not be fair to criticize all car conductors for lack of desire to accommodate the public; but those who ride much on trolley cars in different cities must occasionally be struck with the indifference which some carmen show to the time of trains outward or inward, especially on the depot lines. When passengers are in a hurry to catch a train, they are often put to great inconvenience by unnecessary delay. On the other hand, when a large number of people get off a train at a railroad station and rush out to catch a street car, it might be expected that the conductor of a passing car would take some notice of their presence and their signals to stop. Yet many conductors from some cause or other fail to notice such signals.

While our remarks here do not refer particularly to Lowell, we may state that the great majority of all the car conductors on most roads and certainly in Lowell are extremely polite, courteous, patient and accommodating. They never pass a street corner or railroad station without looking to see if anybody is beckoning the car to stop. Unfortunately there are some who so far from trying the impossible task of pleasing everybody go to the other extreme of not trying to please anybody.

SEEN AND HEARD

At a concert for charity in a country town, Miss Carter obliged by reciting "The Village Blacksmith." At the conclusion of her recital the rural audience cheered.

"Answer!" they cried. "Answer!"

Miss Carter was about to grant the request when a burly fellow very much out of breath tapped her on the shoulder.

"I've just come around from in front," whispered the man excitedly. "I want yer to do me a favor."

"Well, what is it?" queried Miss Carter.

"Is this," whispered the intruder, "I happen ter be the feller you've been talkin' about, and I want yer to put in a verse this time sayin' as how I let out bicycles."

"Why not call it Dunrobin?"

"Dunrobin? Dunrobin? Yes, that would be a good name," said the millionaire. "Only, you see, I have no intention of retiring yet."

A certain millionaire bought a Raphael in Rome. The Italian law prohibits the exportation of masterpieces, and the buyer had the happy idea of getting the Raphael painted over. This was accordingly done. The rare old painting reached London in the guise of a modern snow scene. Then a restaurateur under the watchful eye of the owner set to work on it. With a sponge dipped in turpentine he proceeded to sponge the snow scene off. He sponged it off readily, but he sponged a bit of the Raphael off too, and, behold, underneath the Raphael a portrait of Marconi was revealed.

A young lady of our acquaintance gives the following little story of her vacation deluge:

To the ordinary worker about this time of the year the question arises as to where and how the vacation shall be spent. The active person, after a few days of sitting on a piazza, begins to weary of his inactivity. It is then that a little trip suggests itself to the mind of such a one. I found myself in this state a few weeks

HOW GIRLS MAY AVOID PERIODIC PAINS

The Experience of Two Girls Here Related For The Benefit of Others.

Rochester, N. Y.—"I have a daughter 13 years old who has always been very healthy until recently when she complained of dizziness and cramps every month, so bad that I would have to keep her home from school and out her to bed to get relief.

"After giving her only two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound she is now enjoying the best of health. I cannot praise your Compound too highly. I want every good mother to read what your medicine has done for my child."—Mrs. RICHARD N. DUNHAM, 211 Exchange St., Rochester, N. Y.

Stoutsville, Ohio.—"I suffered from headaches, backache and was very irregular. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken the whole of two bottles I found relief. I am only sixteen years old, but I have better health than for two or three years. I cannot express my thanks for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had taken other medicines but did not find relief."—Miss CORA B. FOSNAUGH, Stoutsville, Ohio, R.F.D., No. 1.

Hundreds of such letters from mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for their daughters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

ago and I thought I would take a trip.

I boarded a train to Fall River and the electric to Newport, R. I., a charming ride of an hour and 40 minutes, to the seaport town, and it takes one along a stretch of country on one side with the ocean on the other. The city is a quaint one situated picturesquely in Narragansett bay, with its narrow sidewalks and streets in the poorer part. The world-renowned ocean drive, which shows the passengers the beautiful palaces of the rich "400," is taken by every tourist who enters the city. Easton's beach now has a board walk with dance halls, restaurants and baby-horses. In the evening twice a week, throngs of sky-rockets are set off, much to the delight of the humbler element who have expended $30,000 for a place of their own to enjoy themselves. We called at the store of the suffragette leader, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, in Franklin street, and had the pleasure of hearing her little talk and looking at the beautiful Porto Rican embroidery for sale for the cause. As some of the luncheon sets were priced at $150, we did not indulge. Each lady is requested to register and become converted to the cause. The assistants in charge are very friendly and chat to the guests in an interesting manner. All kinds of suffragette literature is for sale and no doubt the cause will be greatly advanced by the efforts of these workers. We took a little trip on a ferry to Jamestown and then wended our way homeward after a pleasant stay, having seen the sailors' battalion drill and 15 of the battle-ships which were coming in the harbor for the maneuvers. The ships took very little notice of the sailor recruits in white rows all over them—a pleasant and instructive trip, and a little out of the usual rut.

"Defendant, ten days in jail and a fine of five dollars," accused Judge Solomon Wingetion in the Wheatley, Ontario, police court last week after Stephen MacNeill had pleaded guilty to the charge of having attempted to kiss Arabella Spengling.

Steve was considerably peeved, for he had foxily decided it out that if he confessed his crime and leaned, so to speak, on the bosom of the court, he would get away with nothing more severe than a fatherly admonition to confine his cherry stealing operations to the future in their proper place—a fruitstand. He was, however, too confident to his chum, Zekiel Spengling, for the reason that the misdemeanor which will cost him ten days' liberty and five bones got no farther than an "attempt." It having been, as far as any visible, or rather impressionable, results were concerned, very, very fruitless.

Yet Steve should not be peeved. Far from such, he should consider the case in its proper perspective. The sentence should be thought upon from a philosophical viewpoint; that is, its effect upon his future—after he gets "out"—should be deliberately and logically examined.

Doing this, he would discover that the judgment handed out to him was in reality a blessing in disguise. Indeed, Steve, far from being peeved, would immediately become the most hilariously happy man in Wheatley. Why so? you inquire.

Well, consider what he, in all probability, has escaped. A lifelong bondage, instead of one or only five days, that's what it practically means; for how many matrimonial chains have been artfully welded onto unthinking men through their partiality for pickling cherries, not of the fruitstand variety! Thus Steve's temporary loss of freedom amounts to a mere 14,400 minutes, whereas his surrender of his liberty, say for fifty years, would total some 26,280,000 excruciating circles of the second's dial. But this is not all. He has, too, escaped a lifelong series of bills for hats, bills for feathers, bills for lingerie, bills for shoes, bills for gowns, and bills for other tackle which make the lot of a married man more melancholy than that of Job himself. Of course the payment of these might in time be borne with some fortitude; still imagine the sort of an existence Steve would be forced to drag through in company with that kind of a spouse, who before the song which would start them off in their battles had even sounded was low down mean enough to have him pinched.

Yes, there is not the slightest doubt of it: Judge Solomon Wingetion's sentence was to Steve a blessing in disguise.

THE GREAT HOUSE IN THE SQUARE

The door swings wide on the threshold.

Of the great house in the square, The house with the grim green shutters.

And silence everywhere.

The garden lies a wilderness.

Of bloom where the roses rare Are waiting the foot of childhood

To find its kingdom there!

The door swings wide on the threshold.

Of the great house in the square.

Age sits in the lonely parlor

Of the great house in the square, With Youth, that aches and pines

And listens at the stair—

Their hearts a garden wilderness

Of love and hope and care.

Least motherhood and childhood

Should miss their kingdom there!

Age sits with Youth in parlor

Of the great house in the square.

A guest has come in the twilight

To the great house in the square! Fling wide the grim green shutters,

Chase silence anywhere!

A voice for the garden wilderness.

A touch for the roses rare

For the leaping foot of childhood

Has found its kingdom there!

Mary-Rose has come in the twilight

To the great house in the square.

DEATH OF CHILD

IN ZION CITY TO BE INQUIRED INTO

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Aug. 1.—The coroner yesterday began an investigation into the death of George Marion, aged 6, son of the once famous actor, George Marion. The child died, according to the report, to the coroner, a third-story window in the home of his grandmother in Zion City. No medical attention was given the child as he writhed in the agony caused by his fatal burns, but followers of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, John Alexander Dowie's successor, surrounded the suffering boy and prayed.

The coroner was told that the child died in terrible pain. The grandmother, he was told, was one of those who surrounded and joined in the prayers.

George Marion, father of the dead child, is now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary at Philadelphia for shooting his wife. Until the crime two years ago Marion was well known throughout the United States. Actors all over the country raised a large fund for his defense when he was convicted of murder.

LOWELL MAN

WAS A PASSENGER ON THE CITY OF ROCKLAND

Ralph E. Bassett of this city had a narrow escape from drowning when thrown from a lifeboat of the steamer City of Rockland early Tuesday morning. Mr. Bassett is a dentist, and lives at 104 Shaw street. He was riding over from Gardiner, Me., and had boarded the Rockland at that city. He was in a bunk of a lower deck when the collision occurred, and his first thought was that the boat had struck a rock.

He went on deck and found that a lifeboat filled with women was being lowered from the davits. The women were crying loudly for some man to get in to ply the oars, and Mr. Bassett jumped in. The boat had been in the water but a few minutes when it began to leak, the water coming in through plug holes in the bottom. The boat finally turned partly over and Mr. Bassett, who was busy with the oars, was thrown some distance from the boat and had a very tough time of it. While he was in the water the boat righted itself and the arrival of a lifeboat from the collier that had smashed into the Rockland, saved the day. The imperiled ones were taken to the collier where they were given food and blankets.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Delegates Left Today for Colorado Springs

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—A large party of New England Knights of Columbus and their friends left Boston this forenoon at 11.30 for the 36th annual meeting of the supreme council of the order which opens next Tuesday at Colorado Springs. Besides the supreme officers many members from all the states and outlying dependencies of the United States and all parts of Canada will be present.

The only officers to be elected this year are four supreme directors who will take office Sept. 1. Great interest is being felt over the report of the Catholic University Endowment Fund committee, which will report progress. The success of the plan to raise $500,000 for scholarships has been very gratifying. On July 19, the funds in the hands of the committee aggregated $404,709. By Jan. 1, the fund is expected to be completed and the 50 scholarships will then be placed at the disposal of the order by the university. The reports of the supreme secretary, William J. McGinley of New York on the membership and finances of the order will be of a very pleasing nature. The K. of C. now has 252,718 members, distributed among 1593 councils. The amount in the various funds of the order amounted, on June 30, to $2,396,320.65.

A special report of importance will be that of the committee on higher education, composed of the Rev. Dr. John T. Creagh of the Catholic university, Prof. James C. Monaghan and Dr. James J. Walsh of Fordham University Medical school. The first event of convention week will be a big exemplification of the 3d degree next Sunday afternoon. The formal opening of the convention will be Tuesday, Mayor H. F. Avery delivering the address of welcome. Tuesday and Thursday will witness the business meetings while the remainder of the time will be devoted to social enjoyment.

Joseph C. Pelletier started for Colorado Springs yesterday to prepare for the work of the committee on resolutions and laws of which he is chairman. Today's party is under the direction of M. J. Downey.

BILLERICA

The town hall of Billerica has been wired for electric lighting and the job is now finished, the cost being $341.52. With the new arrangements the hall is now lighted as it should be.

The board of selectmen who were appointed as a building committee by the moderator at the last special town meeting met and discussed matters in connection with the building of the proposed new structure. It was decided to get into communication with Engineer J. R. Worcester of Boston, who prepared the plans and specifications, and instruct him to prepare the contract between the lowest bidders and building committee. It is hoped that the preliminary work will be started in a couple of weeks.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned wishes to express his sincere thanks to his many friends and neighbors, through whose acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and floral offerings, the burden of grief thrust upon him at the time of the death of his beloved wife, was materially lightened. Especially does he wish to thank the members of the Celtic Associates and the Meagher Guards, for the many attentions bestowed. (Signed) James Hamill.

LODGE RESOLUTION
HELD UP IN SENATESenator Stone of Missouri Asked
That Action be Postponed
Until Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Without a word of debate the Lodge resolution denouncing the attitude of the United States toward the acquisition of land by foreign interests on Magdalena bay came near being adopted today by the senate. Only two minutes remained for morning business during which the resolution was to have been taken up when the senate adjourned from sitting in the Archbold impeachment case.

Senator Lodge called up his resolution for a vote. Senator Bacon, presiding, put the question but Senator Stone protested.

Senator Lodge rushed across the chamber to protest to the Missouri senator but the latter requested a postponement until tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Every thing was ready at the White House today for the ceremony of notifying President Taft that he is the candidate of the republican party to succeed himself. The East room, scene of many historic events of the nation's history, was in its best dress with its old quartered oak floor polished anew, its tall windows opened to the breeze from the Potomac and the finest products of the White House greenhouses everywhere around its walls.

The president got up early and had breakfast with Mrs. Taft and Charles, his younger son, who came down from Beverly for the occasion. Mr. Taft's plans for the day were not elaborate. Only a few intimate friends were expected at the executive offices in the short time he planned to stay there. The program arranged was to bring the official notification committee, headed by Senator Root, to the executive office.

STRIKING WEAVERS
SEEK CONFERENCEWith the New Bedford
ManufacturersA COMMUNICATION
SENT TO MILL MENI. W. W. Official Says the Strike is Over

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 1.—William Devolt stated this morning that he had received the communication from the weavers union but that he would not give out the contents until he had submitted it to the association for action. Asked if the Manufacturers' association would be called together today to act on the communication Mr. Devolt said that he could not tell. At Labor headquarters this morning satisfaction was expressed that the weavers had taken some action towards trying to get a conference with the manufacturers.

At the Industrial Workers of the World headquarters the move of the weavers was discussed and Secretary Parkinson said that to him it indicated that the weavers, pushed on by the other craft unions, were trying to get out of acknowledged defeat as gracefully as possible.

"Why, the strike is all over," said Secretary Parkinson, "and when the mill gates open all there will be to it will be a grand rush to see who can get in first."

ON BILL TO INVESTIGATE NATIONAL BANKS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—A minority report on the Pule bill to give the money trust committee power to investigate affairs of national banks has been prepared by five members of the senate finance committee. The minority urges the granting of the desired power so restricted that a congressional committee can only pursue its investigations within the authority conferred on it by congress. The senate finance committee has adversely reported the Pule bill and the matter will be fought out on the floor of the senate.

LOWELL WON THE FIRST GAME FROM MONEY PAID OUT
THE LYNN TEAM THIS AFTERNOON
BY CITY THIS YEAR

INNINGS	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Runs	Hits	Errors
Lowell	0	0	0	1	0	3	0	x		4	8	1
Lynn	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0		1	5	3

"If we win both and Lawrence loses against Worcester today, we're in first place. Do you get me, Jake?"

"I got you, Ross."

Such was the soft talk that Jimmie Gray and Jake Bouttes exchanged just before the battle this afternoon when hundreds who thought there'd be no game were battling for cars for the grounds.

Manager Gray was out for these two games this afternoon and would play if the teams had to attire themselves in bathing suits. During the morning he had a bunch of workmen going over the grounds to mop up the wet spots and place the grounds in half decent condition but the coming of the sun's warm rays shortly after the noon hour helped out nicely and for playing purposes everything was lovely at the appointed hour.

Some 300 fans had gathered at Spalding park at 2 o'clock when the first game was opened and there were more coming, each succeeding car and appearance pointed to a banner crowd.

It was with the greatest satisfaction that the fans noted the first appearance of Empire Red Herry on the local field this season and they didn't hesitate to express their pleasure for "Red" can make in this burg when ever he wants to but for some unknown reason he has never been assigned here. "Red" had with him as a running mate Tom Dannon, erstwhile of Lowell and elsewhere. Tom acting as associate umpire on this occasion. "Red" Herry is the one umpire in the New England who has given satisfaction in all places and at all times. But his family are millionaires and "Red" is the only child and they frowned upon him working too hard. Like a dutiful child "Red" respects their wishes and doesn't allow his hair to become grizzled as the result of overwork. When he works, however, he's there with the goods.

After the dust of preliminary practice had cleared away the teams lined up for the first engagement as follows:

Lowell
Clemens, cf
Magee, lf
De Groff, rf
Halstein, 1b
Miller, 2b
Routtes, 3b
Dee, ss
Layvine, c
Wolfgang, p

Lynn
If, Wallace
rf, Strands
1b, McGovern
3b, Murch
cf, Orcutt
2b, Logan ss, Cargo
c, Weeden
p, Britton

The visitors presented Britton as the slub artist while old reliable Wolfe who can play any old position finally got back to the slot after journeying all over the lot in the past few games. Slimmy Murch who has had more ups and downs in base ball than any one else field down the third station for the visitors.

And the story runneth thus:

First Inning
Lefty Wallace opened the game by fanning. Strands flied out to Clemens and the Terrible One struck out, which was a great consolation to the fans, as they proceeded to demonstrate vigorously.

Umpire for Lowell Clemens flied to Murch. Jimmie Magee found that everything comes to him who waits and walked to first only to steal second a moment later. De Groff flied to Weeden way back under the stand and Bert made a charming catch while Jimmie Magee took advantage of the situation and sneaked to third. Halstein flied out to McGovern.

Score: Lowell 0; Lynn 0.

Second Inning

Murch was there with a pretty single to centre in the second. Orcutt sacrificed. Wolfgang to Halstein and Slimmy made second. Cargo hit one too hard for Wolfgang to handle and Slimmy went to third. But there was nothing doing even then for Weeden hit to Wolfgang and the side was retired.

In Lowell's half Miller popped a fly to Britton. Bouttes flied out to Orcutt. Dee hit a sharp grounder directly over second base that looked for all the money like a dead sure single, but Cargo was on the job and after a beautiful running stop made a perfect throw and got the fast youngster at first. The crowd made him doff the lid.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Third Inning

Britton, the visiting twirler, opened the third and he hit a grounder to Dee and went out at first. Wallace flied out to Dee and Strands sent a fly to Clemens and that was all.

Arthur Layvine made his first appearance in this inning and lest they wouldn't enthuse he cracked the sphere on the nose for a two bagger, which found a resting place in left. He at once scored but didn't, for Wolfgang hit to Cargo and went out at first. Layvine making third. Clemens flied out to Orcutt and Arthur hot-footed for home. Orcutt threw back and Britton getting the ball relayed it home sliding in.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Fourth Inning

In the fourth the visitors broke the ice and got a run. McGovern flied to De Groff. Murch fanned. Then Orcutt hit to centre for a single but Clemens let the ball go through him and Orcutt went to third. Logan banged the ball to deep left for a two ether and Orcutt scored. Cargo walked. Weeden hit to Miller, who threw to Dee, forcing Cargo at second.

Lowell's half was short. Magee fanned. De Groff walked and then tried to steal. There wasn't enough to grease on his shoes and he went out. Cargo getting the throw. Halstein flied to Weeden.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 1.

Fifth Inning

Short and sweet was the visitors' half of the fifth. Britton hit to Miller and died at first. Wallace hit to Wolfe and was retired at first. Strands fanned.

The home team got busy in the first and made the circuit. Just one lone run. Miller singled to right field. Bouttes flied to Wallace. Miller stole second. Dee singled to left and Miller beat it for home and made it. Dee going to second on the throw home. Layvine walked. Wolfgang hit to Britton forcing Dee at third. Clemens walked and the bases were filled. Then Magee with a golden opportunity fanned the breezes.

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 1.

Sixth Inning

McGovern sent a foul fly back to the stands in this inning but Layvine squeezed it after a hard run and received the plaudits of the multitude. Murch and Orcutt, each sent grounders to Miller and were retired in turn at the first station.

De Groff flied out to Orcutt. Halstein singled a scratch hit to Cargo, which he beat out. He tried to steal and was thrown out at second. Miller was hit by a pitched ball and he tried to steal with the same unfortunate result.

Score: Lowell 1, Lynn 1.

Seventh Inning

Lynn flied out to Magee. Cargo hit to Miller and died at first. Weeden flied to Clemens. For Lowell, it was the good old lucky seventh. Bouttes joined with a single to centre. Dee bunted to Murch, but Terry dropped the ball at first and he was safe. Jake advancing. Layvine fanned. Wolfgang scored. Strands let the ball go by him and Dee made third. Clemens flied to Orcutt and Dee scored on the putout. Orcutt made a strong arm throw home to get him and Wolfgang scored on the burn throw. Magee closed the inning with a fly to Wallace.

Score: Lowell 1, Lynn 1.

Eighth Inning

Britton flied out to Clemens. Wallace flied to Miller. Strands singled to left, but McGovern hit to Wolfgang and died at first. For Lowell De Groff singled to centre field. Halstein singled to left field, De Groff going to second. Miller sacrificed. McGovern to Logan at first, advancing both runners. Bouttes flied out to Strands. Dee flied out to Murch.

Score: Lowell 1, Lynn 1.

Ninth Inning

Murch flied out to De Groff. Orcutt flied to Miller. Logan flied out to Magee in deep left, closing the game.

Score: Lowell 1, Lynn 1.

Comparative Statement of the Expenses for First Six Months of 1911 and 1912

Commissioner of Finance James E. Donnelly has prepared a comparative statement of department appropriations and expenses for the first six months of the years 1911 and 1912. Nearly all of the departments show a saving this year. Wages in the fire department for the first six months of 1912 show an increase of $6493 and that is accounted for by the raise of twenty-five cents a day received by the firemen last year. The advance in wages, however, did not go into effect until July of last year and the difference of twenty-five cents a day in that department would equal the increase shown for the first six months of 1912. Commissioner Barrett says he will show a saving in wages for the last six months of this year as compared with the last six months of last year.

The biggest increase expense over last year is shown by the school department. The expenses of that department for the first six months of last year amounted to $210,217.86, as against $224,254.62 for the present year, an increase in 1912 of $14,036.76. So far as the appropriations are concerned there is little to be learned. The appropriations were given at the first of the year and about all of the departments, last year, were given extra appropriations before the year was out and it is expected that some of the departments this year will ask for money to carry them over.

The smaller department expenses run about the same from year to year as their expenses are fixed charges. The accompanying table gives the appropriations, salaries and other expenses for the first six months of the years 1911 and 1912 and the figures are rather interesting:

C. M. A. C. BUILDING
WAS ENTERED BY BURGLARS
DURING THE NIGHT

The C. M. A. C. club house in Pawtucket street was visited by burglars a couple of nights ago and the intruder or intruders got away with about $15 in cash and nearly that amount in tobacco and cigars.

The caretaker of the building, Terri Barry, left the hall at 11 o'clock at night, his usual time and before going he made sure that all the windows were well fastened and the doors locked. The door by which the members have access to the building is equipped with two spring locks, one of which each member has a key. For the other there is only one key, and that is kept by Mr. Barry. This door was also securely locked and how anybody got into the building is a mystery to the janitor.

Another puzzling feature is the fact that the robber or robbers got into the caretaker's office, which was also securely locked with a patent lock. There is only one window in the office and that is always kept fastened. The next morning when the robbery was discovered, the windows were all in good condition as well as the doors. The police were notified of the break, but they have not as yet apprehended the culprit, although they are keeping a close watch on a certain party.

SEVERE INJURY
MAN FELL FROM LADDER AT BROOK'S BOX FACTORY

Albert L. Mertrude, engineer at Brook's box factory in Fletcher street suffered a bad accident yesterday afternoon at his work, when he fell from a ladder. Mr. Brooks was at the top of a ladder about 10 feet high, when the ladder slipped and reeled back. He landed on his back and although there were no bones broken, he was severely injured about the back. Dr. Theophile Laurin was called and after living the injured man first aid, the latter was removed to his home, 39 Fisher street in Mr. Brooks' automobile.

SCHEPPS GOT $1000
TO PAY GUNMENDistrict Attorney Investigating
Stories That Lieut. Becker
is Worth $1,000,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Steps toward the corroboration of the confessions implicating Police Lieutenant Becker in the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, are to be taken carefully and slowly that, as Dist. Atty. Whitman says, "the whole truth of the relations between the gamblers and the police will come out."

Satisfactory progress is being made by Mr. Whitman in supplying the missing links in the confession of "Bait Jack" Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon, who in their stocks to the public prosecutor said that Becker was in the killing of Rosenthal that the gambler might be silenced before he could tell further of police blackmail.

Mr. Whitman says he has obtained some important testimony corroborating parts of Rose's and Webber's story that they met Lieut. Becker by appointment after the murder.

Two restaurant employees, according to the states attorney, have given the information that they saw Becker talking with Rose and Webber on Forty-second street after the killing.

Dist. Atty. Whitman, who has been advised by several supreme court justices to go slow, said today that, in addition to the testimony of the restaurant employees, he had received information from other sources tending to corroborate Rose, Webber and Vallon. The prosecutor said:

"I am confident that the whole truth will come out. It may appear a little slowly, but I am not going to rush the case."

"The court of appeals has held that there must be some corroboration of the testimony of accomplices. The establishment of a motive is sufficient corroboration. There is no doubt in my mind that the motive has been established."

"The intimate relations between Becker and Rosenthal, their quarrel, Becker's fear of Rosenthal, the account against Becker, the killing itself, the meeting of Becker and Rose after the killing, all point to one thing."

"The whole conduct of the investigation by the district attorney has been assumed by himself and he is not conferring with the police officials. The prosecutor is using his own staff and private detectives to supply him with necessary information."

The grand jury will probably not con-

"DAGO FRANK"

IDENTIFIED AS MAN IN THE MUR-DER CASE

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—"Dago Frank" Cirofici, one of the four gunmen wanted for the killing of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, was identified today as being in the gray murder car at the time of the shooting. The identification, which was made by three men, took place a few minutes before Cirofici was taken before the grand jury with the apparent purpose of shaking the nerve of the gunman and forcing a complete confession from him. One of those who identified Cirofici along with William Shapiro, driver of the murder car, was a man whom officials of the prosecutor's office refer to as the "unknown." Cirofici appeared to be greatly shaken by the appearance of the "unknown" and a confession of the gunman seemed imminent, officials of the district attorney's office said.

J. W. Hart, counsel for Becker, was taken before the grand jury and asked about an affidavit he is supposed to have obtained from Rose before the latter surrendered. Hart declined to answer on the ground that he would be unfair to Becker. He was thereupon taken before Judge Mulvey, who instructed him to answer. District Attorney Whitman then had the lawyer taken back to the grand jury room.

MUST STAND LOSS

AGED BOSTON WOMAN MAY LOSE HER HOME.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Behind a mortgage that is soon to be foreclosed on a Boston home and the enforced removal of the elderly widow who has lived in it nearly 40 years, is an interesting story of the theft of United States bonds and their redemption by the treasury department. The name of the woman is withheld by Senator Lodge, who has in vain sought to find some way of relieving the distressed widow.

Back in 1878 the husband put a mortgage on the home in Boston which he had bought out of small earnings of his business and bought $5000 in non-registered United States bonds. He slipped the bonds into his pocket after he had bought them and went back to his shop.

A short time later visitors came to the store and spent a considerable time in looking over the stock. They left without making any purchase and when the proprietor put on his coat that evening, preparatory to closing up, his bonds were gone. They were never recovered.

An appeal was recently made by the widow to Senator Lodge to see if something could be done to restore the bonds to her. They were, however, non-registered bonds and about as easily identified as $1000 bills. Lee McClung, treasurer of the United States, has written Senator Lodge:

"Investigation reveals, that all of the bonds have been retired, some by conversion to bear a lower rate of interest and others by redemption. No two of the bonds were received in the same case or at the same time." It is understood that some of these bonds were sent in by most reputable business men.

GOVERNOR FOSS

NAMED MISS GILLESPIE ON MINIMUM WAGE COMMISSION

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Governor Foss sent to the executive council yesterday his nominations for the minimum wage commission as provided for by an act of the present legislature. The nominees are: H. LaRue Brown of Boston, chairman; Arthur H. Holcombe of Cambridge and Miss Mabel Gillespie of Boston. The former was nominated as a member of the public utility commission after an investigation of conditions, it recommended the establishment of a permanent board.

This permanent commission has power to investigate the wage conditions of women in any industry, to appoint an auxiliary board representing employers, employees and the public, to consider cases that may arise, and to recommend a minimum wage as the result of its procedure.

Charles L. Carr of Dorchester was nominated as a member of the Boston finance commission to succeed Francis N. Daley, who declined a reappointment. Other nominations made yesterday were:

Henry M. Lynch of Brookline as member of the board of boiler rules in place of B. Seannell, who declined reappointment; Mary L. McQuaid of Springfield as trustee of the Monson state hospital; Helen R. Smith of Newton to succeed herself as trustee of the state infirmary and state farm; William H. Regan of Boston as member of the board of recreation in place of W. L. Daly, resigned; and D. Chester Parsons of Shirley, as clerk of the first district court, North Middlesex, in succession to George W. Sanderson, retired.

SUPT. OF STREETS

REMOVED FROM OFFICE BY BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 1.—At its semi-monthly meeting last night the board of public works, on motion of John Haggerty, declared the office of superintendent of streets vacant. Before the motion was put Mayor Barry asked Supt. E. E. Rice, who was present, if he had anything to say in reply to the letter from the mayor of July 22, asking for his resignation. Mr. Rice replied that he had not.

Mr. Haggerty moved that Patrick Dolan, the foreman of streets on the north side of the river, also act as foreman on the south side until the board can make a permanent arrangement, and the board so voted. After the meeting Mayor Barry said that Supt. Rice had not been giving satisfaction for some time and as he held the position at the pleasure of the board it was decided to give him a chance to resign. Mayor Barry declined to state the reason, but if Mr. Rice desires reappointment, he added, they would be furnished him.

LAKEVIEW DANCE HALL

Souvenirs will be presented to all visitors at the Lakeview dance hall tonight. The latter are of a very beautiful design and all lovers of dancing should visit the hall tonight where they are sure to have an enjoyable time, and the little souvenir may be kept as a pleasant reminder of the happy evening. The music at the hall is exceptionally fine, and particularly well given are the piccolo and drum duets by Messrs. Bissonette and Pool, who are experts at their instruments. Mr. Pool also plays several solos on the xylophone and bells that are bound to please. The floor is in fine condition, and the surroundings are very picturesque. Tomorrow night another special attraction will be introduced, the latter being the "Surprise Waltz." While the exact nature of the novelty has not been given out, suffice to say that it will be a hammer. To this number appropriate music will be played, and the management says that it will not only prove enjoyable to the participants but will also appeal to those who witness its execution from the hall pavilion.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Prince Ellwood and his company had the largest house of the season last night. The audience was more than pleased judging from the applause. "The Cowboy and the Dude" is cleverly written; the action is brisk and varied; the comedy is genuine and honest; wholly free from all unpleasant taint. The Romeo and Juliet scene in the fourth act is a clever idea. The climax of the act affords both amusement and surprise.

The entire cast is seen at its best. Only six more times are left to those who wish to witness this beautiful drama as Prince Ellwood and his company close their engagement at this theatre Saturday.

of the Merrimack Square Theatre is brought to a most satisfactory end and the working out of as cruel, and at the same time of as just a retribution as a wronged husband could mete out, is accomplished. One has to see it in order to understand why it has made such a pronounced success with the audiences which have filled this theatre to its capacity almost every day this week.

Besides this dramatic playlet there are several good features in this week's bill. Mae and Lillian Burns, furnish a very pleasing entertainment with their dainty songs and dances. Smithy-Smith pleases greatly with his odd dances and droll songs. Miss

Bagley's "Dixie Moon" and "That Hypnotizing Man," two very tuneful, illustrated songs, have made her more popular than ever, and the interesting photo-plays, all go to make up one of the most successful bills ever presented at this theatre.

Next week, Lowell week will be a tremendous success, according to the interest already manifested in it. The features will be announced very shortly.

WARNING TO THE VACATIONISTS GREAT CLOUDBURSTS CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE

Local Health Official Says They May Bring Disease to City

An official of the board of health talked today with a representative for The Sun about vacationists bringing disease to the city from unsanitary summer resorts. "The vacation season," he said, "is one of the worst we have to contend with, and vacationists should be especially careful of the water which they drink while they are away."

"We generally look for an increase in typhoid and scarlet fever about the time that most of the vacationists are returning and when the schools open. Take last year, for instance. On June 1 we had two cases of typhoid fever and on September 1 we had 13 cases. On June 1, we had only three cases of scarlet fever reported and only two in August, but by the first of November the number of cases reported had increased to 42."

"People go away to the country and the beaches by the thousands. Most of them get a bit careless while they are away. They are looking for a good time or a rest, whichever it may be, and many put up with serious inconveniences which they would not tolerate at home, just for the sake of being away."

"Quite a number of the summer

places which cannot boast of even fair sanitary conditions at any time, are positive health menaces and death traps during the height of their busy season. Frequently the water and milk supply of these places is bad, and countless persons leave the country and the seashore, particularly the former, to go home to die of typhoid fever or some other disease that a little care might have avoided."

"Every vacationist who goes away on his vacation should take a few careful observations of his stopping place. He should find out where the water that is used for drinking purposes comes from and how it gets to the table."

"Let everyone be sure the water is clean and good, otherwise don't drink it until it has been boiled. If the vacationist of the place where you are stopping is learning with flies, and apparently little effort is being made to keep them away from the food, then it is up to you to find another place or come home."

"A little care in these directions may take a little time, but it is likely to save many lives and incidentally will help the board of health to keep the city healthy."

Hundreds of Tourists Were Marooned in Colorado Springs
—Many Cattle Lost

DENVER, Aug. 1.—Cloudbursts, followed by raging torrents in gulches, the overflowing of the banks of rivers, inundating of railroad tracks, washing away of crops and cattle and paralyzing of railroad traffic, causing many thousands dollars damage, were reported from several sections of the state last night.

Hundreds of tourists were marooned in Colorado Springs because the railroad tracks in both directions had been carried out. Anxiety was felt by the farmers in the Springs section because of a telephone warning that Mount Manitou dam was weakening under the strain of the flood incident to the heavy rains.

The loss of many head of cattle was reported from Kaner, where the heavy rains were interspersed with hail. The Arkansas river at Pueblo was at the highest point of the year, although no alarm was felt. Florence, Colo., a small town just west of Pueblo, was reported to be inundated. No loss of life was reported from any point.

FUNERALS

KEANE.—The funeral of Mary E. Keane took place Wednesday afternoon from the home of her parents, Thomas and Theresa Keane, 351 Lawrence street, and was well attended. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Laid on the newly made grave were the following floral offerings: Spray of roses, Mary Kane; spray of minks, Allen and Margaret McQuade; and a spray of roses, from Mrs. McGee and family. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons had charge.

DONLAN.—Yesterday afternoon the family and friends gathered at the tomb in the Edison cemetery and looked upon the face of Miss Mary Donlan for the last time. The body has been resting in the tomb since July 6th awaiting the arrival of her sister from Europe. The body was taken to St. Patrick's cemetery where burial was in the family lot. At the grave Rev. Fr. Kunze, a chaplain in the U. S. army and stationed at Fort Strong read the committal prayers. The arrangements were in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

GOING TO COLORADO SPRINGS

Today for K. of C.
Convention

William F. Thornton, district deputy supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, left Lowell today for Colorado Springs, Colorado, where he will attend the meeting of the national council of the order, as a delegate from the Bay State. District Deputy Thornton has long taken an interest in the workings of the Knights of Columbus in Lowell and elsewhere, and his election as delegate from Massachusetts is a striking tribute to his efficient work in the upbuilding of the knights in Massachusetts.

Mr. Thornton left Lowell today and there was a large gathering of knights at the station to see him off. Yesterday the school janitors of the city, of whom he is supervisor, presented him with an elegant traveling case, while the employees of the school supply room gave him a box of fragrant cigars.

The session of the Knights of Columbus in Colorado this year promises to be a most important one and advance information at hand shows tremendous increases in membership, with Massachusetts leading in New England. The term of Matthew Mahoney, Jr.,

WILLIAM F. THORNTON

of Mobile, Alabama, and well known in Lowell, as a member of the board of directors, expires this year. A royal welcome will be given the delegates by the Colorado Knights.

HEAVY TRAVEL

REPORTED ON THE BOSTON & MAINE ROAD

Owing to the big freight wreck at Bridgewater, N. H., yesterday, which was reported exclusively in The Sun, several of the employees of the baggage room at the local depot were obliged to work overtime last evening. All the trains running over the White mountain division were delayed and when the wreckage was cleared the trains came in bunches, as one of the attaches of the depot said this morning.

The Canadian Pacific, as was stated yesterday, carried many people, with Lowell as their destination, and friends of the travelers were at the depot from 6:45 in the morning until 2:12 in the afternoon when the train steamed into town. The train was well filled and several of the travelers said that the wreck was very serious. They complained that the members of the working crew, saying that the latter worked hard to place the overturned cars back on the tracks.

The Canadian Pacific was thirty minutes late this morning, this being due to the heavy travel.

The New York train due to leave Lowell at 11:25 was six minutes late, due to the large number of travelers. There were nine coaches on the train and all were well filled when the engine tooted its whistle and started out of the depot.

Many Lowell people left the depot today for Hampton beach, while the usual number took the train for Old Orchard.

FORMER PUPILS TO HOLD REUNION

Arrangements for the Event Have Been Made

The executive committee of l'Association des Anciens Elèves du Collège St. Joseph held an important meeting at the home of the treasurer, Joseph F. Montminy, 810 Moody street, last night. Considerable business concerning the first annual meeting of the association which is to be held on August 15, was brought before the meeting and the program for the day was completed.

August 1 had been set as the last day for subscription, but it was decided last night to take in new members until Sunday, August 11.

Rev. Bro. Chrysanthus, S. M., the first director of St. Joseph's college, who was recently unanimously elected honorary president of the association is expected to arrive in this city a week from Sunday. He is now stationed at Montreal, where he is director of a large college conducted by the Marist Brothers. His many former friends will be pleased to meet him, as well as his former pupils, many of whom are now members of the clergy.

The entire program for the day will be as follows:

At 9 a. m., solemn high mass at St. Joseph's church, the celebrant and his assistants are members of the association. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Joseph Blais, O. M. I. At 1 o'clock special electric cars will leave Merrimack street, near the college, for Hudson, N. H., where an afternoon of sports will be spent. The return to the city will be at 8 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock a grand banquet will be held at the college hall.

The speakers at the banquet are to be Mayor James E. O'Donnell, who will respond to the "City of Lowell," Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., "The Parish," Rev. Julien Racette, O. M. I., chaplain of the association, formerly of this city and now of Plattsburg, N. Y., "Our Association," Rev. Bro. Chrysanthus, S. M., "College Years Ago," Rev. Bro. Bernardin, S. M., "Our College at the Present Time," Edouard S. Desmarais, "Traders," E. J. Laroche, "Press," President Wolfred P. Caisse, Jr., will serve as toastmaster.

The executive committee of the association is composed of the following: Hon. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., honorary chaplain; Rev. Julien Racette, O. M. I., of Plattsburg, N. Y., chaplain; Rev. Bro. Chrysanthus, S. M., honorary president; Wolfred P. Caisse, Jr., vice president; Henri V. Charbonneau, Esq., vice president; Joseph F. Montminy, treasurer; William Protter, secretary; Rev. Joseph Blais, O. M. I., secretary pro tem; Edouard S. Desmarais, Rodolphe E. Jodoin, Arthur L. Enn, Eugene Ricard and E. J. Laroche, directors.

NEW NAVAL COALING STATION

SEWARD, Alaska, Aug. 1.—A party from the cruiser Maryland, which arrived here last Tuesday, has left for the Matanuska coal fields, from which it is proposed to obtain fuel for the naval coaling station to be established here. A report will be made to the secretary of the navy on the feasibility of obtaining coal from the fields for the Pacific fleet.

ALD. CUMMINGS

COMMENDED BY THE CITY BEAUTIFUL COMMITTEE

The following letter from the city beautiful committee of the Lowell Board of Trade to Commissioner Cummings is self explanatory:

Lowell, Mass., July 31, 1912.
Mr. Lawrence Cummings, Commissioner of Public Property, Lowell, Mass.:
Dear Sir—I have been instructed by vote of the city beautiful committee of the Lowell Board of Trade to convey to you the appreciation of the committee for your co-operation in the work of the committee.

The committee, passed a vote commending your action in regard to the removal of signboards and your attitude in regard to the granting of permits for the erection of others.

With kindest regards, I am
Respectfully yours,
John H. Murphy, Secretary.

PLENTY OF HELP

TO WORK IN WHEAT FIELDS IN NORTHWEST.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 1.—The call for labor in the wheat fields of the American Northwest, recently printed in eastern newspapers, is having a wholesome effect and labor agencies here and elsewhere north of Chicago note an influx of men from Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

The secretary of the Duluth Commercial Club stated today that the men are not needed in this vicinity, but in the grain fields of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and on railroads in Canada and in the woods of the northwest.

BACHELOR GIRLS

ELECTED OFFICERS FOR DANCING PARTY TO BE HELD

The recently organized M. T. I. Bachelor Girls held a very important meeting in Mathew hall, Dutton street, on Tuesday evening, with Miss Rose M. McDonough, president, in the chair. Members were present and the considerable enthusiasm during the meeting. The girls are taking great interest in the meetings of the organization and are very enthusiastic over its success.

Six members were admitted, and now there are forty young ladies connected with the club. There has been a limit of 50 set and the members are confident that by the next regular meeting the membership will be completed. It was decided at the meeting that a dancing party will be held at the Willow Dale hall on Friday evening, Aug. 23, the receipts of the party to be turned into the treasury of the new club.

The next business taken up was the election of the officers to have charge of the party, and the results were as follows: General manager, Miss Rose McDonough; assistant general manager, Miss Alice Mealey; floor director, Miss Anna Muldoon; chief aid, Miss Eleanor Buckley. The other members of the club will act as aids. The tickets for the party will be distributed at the next regular meeting of the Bachelor Girls, which will be held on Tuesday evening, and, owing to the success that the girls have accomplished in the past, they feel confident that there will be a large attendance at the party.

A special meeting of the club has been called for this evening, to take action on an invitation to give a concert at Willow Dale Sunday next.

CITIZENS OF TOKIO

WANT THE EMPEROR BURIED IN THAT CITY

TOKIO, Aug. 1.—The mayor and citizens of Tokio are attempting to secure the selection of Tokio or its vicinity as the place of interment of Mutsuhito. It is believed, however, that it will take place on the site of Maruyama palace at Tokio, which was built by Hyadesoshi in the 15th century. Business has been resumed practically in all branches. The banks have reopened their doors and international exchange is going on as usual.

PRES. TAFT NOTIFIED

faces before noon and the guests to the White House proper at the same time. The march of the committee from the offices to the east room, the notification speech of Senator Root and his own words of acceptance were the only formalities the president wished. Unofficially the word had gone out that the notification ceremonies were to be as informal as possible and most of the congressmen invited were glad to lay aside frock coats and silk hats. The order had been given for the president's aides to appear in summer uniform of white, but the marine band which plays at all White House affairs, knows no uniform but coats of scarlet. The custom, begun by the Tafts, of serving buffet luncheons, made it an easy task to prepare for the small number asked to be present today. Two state dining rooms were ready for the luncheon after the program of speechmaking and handshaking.

Members of the notification committee in Washington for the event include: Connecticut, Frank B. Weeks; Maine, Edward Lawrence; New Hampshire, Charles Floyd; Rhode Island, R. L. Beekman.

Surrounded by his family and friends in the historic East room of the White House, the president received from Senator Root, chairman of the committee of notification, his first official notification of the convention action.

"Your title to the nomination is as clear and unimpeachable as the title of any candidate since political conventions began," said Senator Root at the conclusion of his address.

"I accept the nomination which you now tender," replied President Taft in beginning his speech of acceptance.

"I accept it as an expression of confidence that in a second administration I will serve the public well."

Though the room was well filled it was not uncomfortable.

Sensor Root's speech, delivered in the tones so well known in the senate chamber, was heard by all and when he finished the president began reading his speech of acceptance, a printed document of some ten thousand words.

The president read in his usual clear and deliberate manner and as he proceeded the guests remained standing. Moving picture machine operators perched upon points of vantage in the corners of the room checked off thousands of feet of film while Senator Root and the president were speaking. It was the first time a moving picture had been taken in the White House. The state department will preserve one of the rolls in its archives. As the president proceeded to speak on the issues he followed the text of his manuscript almost to the letter. It appeared that the week spent in its preparation had been one of close attention. When the president came to the portion wherein he referred to the "maintenance of the nation's institutions and the preservation of the constitution" many of his hearers thought he spoke with feeling. Then when he launched into a denunciation of those who he said were responsible "for the popular unrest" the president spoke with considerable spirit, raising his voice and emphasizing his words by gestures.

While the president was being notified of his nomination the democrats in the house of representatives were firing a volley of complimentary oratory at Woodrow Wilson, the democratic nominee.

Applause interrupted the president's delivery of his speech. One outburst, lasting a little longer than the others greeted his references to Colonel Roosevelt and Governor Wilson, though he mentioned neither by name. He referred to the colonel as the "leader of those who have left the republican party" and to Gov. Wilson as "the democratic nominee."

At the conclusion of the speeches a luncheon was served and the room took on the appearance of a social function though the formalities of dress were missing.

Your title to the nomination is as clear and unimpeachable as the title of any candidate since political conventions began."

That was the keynote of Senator Elihu Root's address to President Taft here today when, as chairman of the committee of notification, he formally advised the president of his nomination by the Chicago convention.

Surrounded by the members of the committee and a hundred or so invited guests, the chairman of the convention in a brief speech delivered the official announcement.

"The committee of notification," said Senator Root, "here present, has the honor to advise you formally that on the 22nd day of June, last you were regularly and duly nominated by the national convention of the republican party, to be the republican candidate for president for the term beginning March 4th, 1913."

"For the second time in the history of the republican party a part of the delegates have refused to be bound by the action of the convention. Now, as on the former occasion, the irreconcilable minority declares its intention to support either your democratic opponent, or a third candidate. The reason assigned for this course is dissatisfaction with the decision of certain contests in the making up of the temporary roll of the convention. Those contests were decided by the tribunal upon which the law that has governed the republican party for more than forty years imposed the duty of deciding such contests."

"So long as those decisions were made honestly and in good faith all persons were bound to accept them as conclusive in the making up of the temporary roll of the convention, and neither in the facts and arguments produced before the national committee, the committee on credentials and the convention itself, nor otherwise, does there appear just ground for impeaching the honesty and good faith of the committee's decision. Both the making up of the temporary roll, and the rights accorded to the persons upon that roll, whose seats were contested, were in accordance with the long established and unquestioned rules of law governing the party, and founded upon justice and common sense. Your title to the nomination is as clear and unimpeachable as the title of any candidate of any party since political conventions began."

"Your selection has a broader basis than a mere expression of choice between different party leaders representing the same ideas. You have been nominated because you stand pre-eminently for certain fixed and essential principles which the republican party maintains. You believe in the rule of law rather than the rule of men. You realize that the only safety for nations, as for individuals, is to establish and abide by declared principles of action. You are in sympathy with the great ethical rules of right conduct that the American people have set up for their own guidance and self-restraint in the limitations of the constitution, the limitations upon governmental and official power essential to the preservation of liberty and justice. You know that to sweep away those wise rules of self-restraint would not be progress but decadence. You know that the great declarations of principle in our constitution cannot be made an effective guide to conduct in any other way than by judicial judgment upon attempts to violate them; and you maintain the independence, dignity and authority of the courts of the United States. You are for progress along all the lines of national development, but for progress which still preserves the good we already have and holds fast to those essential elements of American institutions which have made our country prosperous and great and free."

"I respect of all these things our country is threatened from many sides. It is your high privilege to be the standard-bearer for the cause in which you believe; and in that cause of peace and justice and liberty the millions of your countrymen who believe as you do will stand with you, and the great party which was born in the struggle for constitutional freedom will support you."

President Taft Accepts

President Taft's formal speech of acceptance of the nomination of the Chicago convention was delivered here today to the official committee of notification, headed by Senator Root and a few invited guests.

Although Mr. Taft defined in detail the issues of the campaign as he saw them, he reserved the right to amplify his statement in a letter as the campaign develops.

The supreme issue that confronts the voters, the president declared, was that of the maintenance of the nation's institutions and the preservation of the constitution, threatened, he said, on the one hand by the Democratic party and on the other by those Republicans who had left the party to try their fortunes in a new one.

Next in importance Mr. Taft places the tariff. In the proposals of the Democrats for reductions in the present schedules, he said, the danger of business depression and hard times is not to be overlooked. The Republican principle of revision only where scientific investigation shows it necessary, marked the straight road to continued prosperity and commercial peace.

In discussing the tariff, the President said that it was untrue that to its door could be traced the high cost of living, and pointed out that conditions of living were alike over the world. A political promise could not remedy such a condition, he said.

Regulation of Trusts

As an issue only less important than the tariff, the President placed the regulation of trusts. He said the Sherman law had been enforced with success, but added that specific acts of unfair trade should be denounced as misdemeanors that such acts might be avoided or when committed punished by summary procedure. Inordinate business enterprises, he said, should be offered a federal incorporation law.

Aside from these issues, the President pointed to the record of the Republican party, and particularly during his own administration as an earnest of what it might be expected to do in the future if the people returned it to power in November. He attacked the Democrats at other points than the tariff, making special reference to the refusal of that party in the House of Representatives to continue the naval policy of two battleships a year. Taft did not mention either Col. Roosevelt or Gov. Woodrow Wilson by name, but referred to each. While he did not accuse either of embracing the theories of socialism, many of the proposals they had made, the President said, favored it strongly.

He closed with a review of his administrative achievements and appealed directly to the conservative voters of the Democratic party to join with the Republicans at the polls.

"I know that in this wide country there are many who call themselves democrats, who view with the same aversion that we republicans do the radical propositions of change in our form of government that are recklessly advanced to satisfy what is supposed to be popular clamor," said the president.

"They are men who revere the constitution and the institutions of their government with all the love and respect that we could possibly have, men who deprecate disturbances, men who condemn any and every thing that would lead to a demagogic agitation which is essential to the enjoyment by the whole people of the great prosperity which the good crops and the present conditions ought to bring us."

"To them I appeal, as to all republicans, to join us in an earnest effort to avert the political and economic revolution and business paralysis which such misfortune will bring about. Such misfortune will fall most heavily on the wage earner. May we not hope that he will see what his real interest is, will understand the shallowness of attacks upon existing institutions and deceitful promises of undefined benefit by undefined changes?"

The president had heard officially of his nomination at Chicago from the lips of Senator Elihu Root of New York, chairman of the notification committee.

"I accept it," he began, "as an approval of what I have done under its mandate and as an expression of confidence that in a second administration I will serve the public well. The issues presented to the convention over which your chairman presided with such a just and even hand, made a crisis in the party's life. A faction sought to force the party to violate a valuable and time-honored national tradition by entrusting the power of the presidency for more than two terms to one man, and that man, one whose recently avowed political views would have committed the party to radical proposals involving dangerous changes in our present constitutional form of representative government and our independent judiciary. This occasion is appropriate for the expression of profound gratitude at the victory for the right won at Chicago. By that victory the republican party was saved for future usefulness."

Bitter Attack

After reviewing the legislative enactments of the republican party, the president launched into a bitter attack upon "those responsible for the popular unrest" of the present day.

"Started by sensational journalism and unjust and unprincipled muckraking," he said, "demagogues have seized the opportunity to inflame the public mind that they might turn peculiar conditions to their own advantage." In the formation of new parties the president said, these men have promised the satisfaction of unrest by the application of a panacea.

"In the ultimate analysis, I fear, the equal opportunity which these seek who proclaim the so-called social justice, involves a forced division of property and that means socialism. I venture to say there is no national administration in which more real steps of progress have been taken than in the present one. But as for the millennium, a condition in which the rich are to be made reasonably poor and the poor reasonably rich by law, we are chasing a phantom; we are holding out to those whose unrest we fear, a prospect and a dream, a vision of the impossible."

"I do not say that the two gentlemen who lead one the democratic party and the other the former republicans who have left their party, in their attacks upon existing conditions, and in their attempts to satisfy the popular unrest by promises of remedies, are consciously embracing socialism. The truth is that they do not offer any definite legislation or policy by which the happy conditions they promise are to be brought about, but if their promises mean anything, they lead directly toward the appropriation of what belongs to one man, to another."

"The truth is, my friends, both those who have left the republican party under the inspiration of their present leader, and our old opponents, the democrats, under their candidate, are going in a direction they do not definitely know, toward an end they can not definitely describe, with but one chief and clear object and that is of acquiring power for their party by popular support through the promise of a change for the better."

"These gentlemen proposed to reform the government whose present defects, if any, are due to the failure of the people to devote as much time as is necessary to their political duties by requiring a political activity by the people three times that which thus far the people have been willing to assume."

"But after we have changed all the governmental machinery so as to permit instantaneous expression of the people in constitutional amendments, in statutes and in recall of public agents, what then?"

"Votes are not bread, constitutional amendments are not work, referendums do not pay rent or furnish houses, recalls do not furnish clothing, initiatives do not supply employment or relieve inequalities of condition or of opportunity. We still ought to have set before us the definite plans to bring on complete equality of opportunity and to abolish hardship and

The president discussed at some length the recall of judges and judicial decisions and the proposals to forbid the use of injunctions to protect property against a secondary boycott and the use of juries in contempt proceedings brought to enforce decrees or orders. The recall of decisions he labelled the "grotesque proposition" by the leader of former republicans who have left their party.

"The republican party," concluded the president, "stands for none of these innovations. It refused to make changes simply for the purpose of making a change, and cultivating popular hope that in the change some thing beneficial, undefined, will take place. We favor the greatest good to the greatest number. We believe that we have made progress from the beginning to now, and that the progress is to continue into the far future; that it is reasonable progress that experience has shown to be really useful and helpful, and from which there is no reaction to something worse. It is said that this is not an issue in the campaign. It seems to me it is the supreme issue."

Owing to the unsettled condition of the weather, the open air moving picture performance by the General F. Co. of Boston, which was to be presented on the grounds of St. Anthony's church, Saturday evening, has been postponed for one week.

ARCHBALD CASE NOT YET DECIDED

U. S. Senate Has Adjourned Till Saturday

COUNSEL WANTED MORE TIME

In Which to Prepare His Defense

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—After a session of an hour the senate today, sitting as a court of impeachment in the case of Judge Robert Archbald, adjourned until 3 p. m. Saturday without deciding whether the trial shall go on at once or wait over until fall.

Judge Archbald's counsel protested that his defense could not be prepared before Oct. 15. Chairman Clayton of the house committee of managers declared against any delay, but agreed to wait until Saturday before forcing a decision.

The house committee's reply to Judge Archbald's answer to the charges against him filed today is a complete denial of all the judge's contentions. An attempt to consider the time of trial in executive session was vigorously opposed by several senators and defeated.

LAWYER TOBIN

ASKS FOR THE IMPEACHMENT OF JUSTICE WRIGHT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Speaker Clark received in his mail today from Francis T. Tobin, a lawyer of Philadelphia a petition for the impeachment of Justice Daniel T. Wright of the district of Columbia supreme court because of a recent decision in which he convicted Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell for contempt of court.

Speaker Clark referred the petition to the public judiciary committee without comment.

HAMILTON HOLT

MAKES A PLEA FOR THE ENDOWED NEWSPAPER.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 1.—Hamilton Holt of the Independent, New York, made a plea for the endowed newspaper, speaking at the national newspaper conference today on the topic "Can commercial journalism make good, or must we look for the endowed newspaper?"

"We may even look," he predicted, "for the municipal, national, or international paper if present conditions are a correct guide to future action. The press at present is not as impartial as it should be. It is not possible, under the present system, to present all sides of a question in a commercially-owned paper."

He saw no danger of its becoming reactionary, if manned by the right kind of men. There are many college graduates who could edit a paper better than can many of the $15,000 editors of commercial papers, he declared.

RAY BRONSON

PRIZE FIGHTER BADLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

NORFOLK, Ind., Aug. 1.—Ray Bronson, Indianapolis, waterweight prize fighter, is in a local hospital suffering from concussion of the brain, as a result of an auto accident near here late last night. Bronson was still unconscious today, but physicians said he probably would recover. Fred Ankler, who was with Bronson, was slightly hurt.

Bronson, who was driving from Fort Wayne to Indianapolis, lost control of the machine near a curve and it tumbled down a five foot embankment.

GREAT BRITAIN

TO WITHDRAW FROM BRUSSELS SUGAR CONVENTION

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Sidney Buxton, president of the board of trade, announced in the commons today that he was the intention of Great Britain to withdraw from the Brussels Sugar Convention on the ground that the terms of the protocol increasing the amount of sugar to be exported by Russia were unsatisfactory to the British government.

JUDGE T. J. ENRIGHT ASSUMES NEW DUTIES

JUDGE THOMAS J. ENRIGHT

A Cordial Reception by Judge Hadley, Associate Judges and Bar Association

Judge Thomas J. Enright made his debut in police court today, assuming the duties of judge as successor to Judge Hadley, and the event was marked by all the formalities befitting the occasion.

It was a most cordial reception that awaited Judge Enright on taking his place upon the bench. Not only was there a large representation of the local bar, but Judge Hadley and the associate justices, Pickman and Fisher, together with many other friends of the new judge were present to congratulate him.

The judge's desk was literally covered with bouquets, the fragrance of which filled the room. The attendance was so large in the space reserved for lawyers and newspapermen, that extra chairs had to be supplied. As an act of grace on entering upon the duties of his office, Judge Enright released all the drunken offenders, J. Joseph O'Connor, Esq., and Deputy Hurdy Downey may now boast of having the distinction of trying the first case before his Honor.

At 10 o'clock Court Officer Crowley announced in the usual way the arrival of the justice of the court, and Judge Enright, preceded by Judge Samuel J. Hadley, made his appearance in the court room. The former, who wore a frock coat, took his seat, and Clerk Savage immediately read the notice of Judge Enright's appointment, which was as follows:

Notice of Appointment
Know Ye, that We, by Our Governor, with the advice and consent of our council, confiding in the ability, discretion and integrity of Thomas J. Enright of Lowell do hereby under the provisions of chapter one hundred and sixty of the Revised Laws, constitute and appoint him to be the justice of the peace of Lowell; to hold said trial during his good behavior therein, unless removed therefrom in the manner provided by our constitution.

And we do authorize and enjoin him, the said Thomas J. Enright, to execute and perform all the duties, and he is invested with all the powers and responsibilities which by our constitution and laws do or may pertain to the said office, so long as he shall hold the same by virtue of these presents.

Witness, His Excellency, Eugene N. Foss, our governor, and our great seal hereunto affixed, at Boston, this twentieth day of July, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twelve, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and thirty-seventh.

By His Excellency the Governor with the advice and consent of the council, Albert P. Langtry,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Judge Hadley's Congratulations

After the reading of the document Judge Enright introduced Judge Hadley, who congratulated the new judge on his appointment. He said in part: "I feel an interest in the local judiciary, as I have served here nearly 27 years as judge. I congratulate the new judge, for I feel as he feels, and from what I know of him we have the assurance he will fulfill his duties faithfully. I sincerely hope he will gratify this community with his decisions. I also hope and feel assured that you, Judge Enright, will receive as much courtesy and respect from the members of the bar association as I have."

Judge Hadley then said he entered the court room as clerk on the very same date and the very same hour 55 years ago. He was appointed judge on Feb. 25, 1855, and served as such until Jan. 20 of the present year.

Judge Enright's Reply

Judge Enright in replying to Judge Hadley's congratulations and good wishes said: "I wish to extend my sincere thanks to my predecessor and also to the members of the bar association for their loyalty towards me. I intend to come here in a quiet way and immediately proceed to business, but my friend, Judge Hadley, spoke to me and said he wished to be present." Judge Enright then told of how he was present in the court room when Judge Hadley first presided, and said both have always been the best of friends. He thanked Judge Pickman and Judge Fisher for the aid they had tendered him since he took the oath of office. He also extended his thanks to Clerk Savage for his courtesy and kindness, as well as to the members of the bar association for their loyal support up to the time of his appointment. Concluding the judge said: "I will endeavor to fill the office of judge to the best of my ability, and I assure you that I make no errors they will be of judgment and not of the heart."

Mayor James E. O'Donnell then came to the front and spoke in part as follows: "Your Honor, I came here as a friend of yours to congratulate you, the city and the governor, for the choice of judge for this police court could not have been better. When you consider the large number of names that was sent to the governor for appointment, it is a great tribute to you personally to think that you have been selected for this high office. As mayor of Lowell and as a personal friend of yours, I hope you will be here for many years, and I am confident that you will rule faithfully and impartially."

At the close of Mayor O'Donnell's remarks the new judge was congratulated by the others present, with most cordial handshakes. A few minutes later the seven drunken offenders, who were arrested yesterday, were taken upstairs before Judge Enright, and as much as they were all first offenders, His Honor released them.

The beautiful flowers which served as a pretty decoration for His Honor's desk, were contributed as follows: Bouquet of roses and asters, Judge John J. Pickman and Judge Frederick E. Fisher; bouquet of carnations and asters, the associates in Judge Enright's law office; bouquet of roses and asters, Rev. John J. O'Hearn of Peabody, Mass.; bouquet of roses and asters, Elmer Enright, daughter of the judge; bouquet of roses and asters, Probation Officer Edward F. Slattery; sister roses and asters, May Enright, sister to the judge, as well as several others. Judge Hadley was also the recipient of a large bouquet of roses and asters from Probation Officer Slattery.

The session was a very brief one. Two cases were tried before His Honor, that of Antoina Bukowicz, who was charged with assault and battery on Rosezonla Radzik.

The defendant pleaded guilty and as the offense was a minor one, a fine of $5 was imposed. The other case was that of May Dolan, who was arrested on a warrant charging her with assault and battery on Nellie F. Hanahan. In this case the complainant claimed that while sitting on a step next to the defendant's in Madison place, Mrs. Dolan threw a pail of water over her. After hearing the testimony of several witnesses, the judge found the defendant not guilty and ordered her discharge. J. Joseph O'Connor appeared for the defendant. The case was the first tried before the new judge.

WANT GOOD ROADS

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 1.—Automobile clubs and business organizations in Connecticut have been asked to send delegates to a mass meeting in the interest of good roads to be held here Monday under direction of the Connecticut Automobile association. The main purpose is to advocate paved highways about twenty feet in width running west from Portchester, N. Y. through Connecticut. The legislature will be asked to make an appropriation for this highway.

MR. EDWARD FITZWILLIAM JOHN M. WARD

Well Known in Lowell
Died in Boston

Many Lowell people will regret to hear of the death of Edward Fitzwilliam of Boston, who was well known here. He died Tuesday at his home, 27 Winthrop street, Allston, aged 83 years.

During his residence in this country he was an active worker in the cause of Irish freedom. He at one time published a weekly paper known as "The Sentinel" devoted to the cause of government reforms and Irish independence. He wrote a great many poems most of them dealing with the Irish movement. In 1902 he was named the "unworn laureate" of the Boston Irish committee. He was a poet of no mean order, many of his lines having received considerable mention. For more than 10 years he was the superintendent of St. Patrick's Sunday school in Watertown, and was absent from only four or five sessions during that time. He was a member of the A. O. U. M., the Holy Name society and the United Irish league. He leaves several volumes of poems and other writings. He addressed several meetings in Lowell some years ago.

Mr. Fitzwilliam was born in Riverstown, County Sligo, Ireland, May 15, 1829, and came to this country in 1854. For about five years he was an over-seer in the Etta mills in Watertown, after which he conducted a grocery and provision business for many years in that town. For many years he was custodian of the old historical and probate building on Tremont street.

In September, 1856, Mr. William married Mrs. Mary A. Carter, who survives him. Twelve children were born of the union, although the majority have since died. Three sons were veterans of the Spanish war. One son is Edward C. Fitzwilliam, well known in and around Boston and some years ago was a prominent figure at public demonstrations.

THE BAY STATE MILITIA

Preparing to Start for the "Front"

Arrangements for sending members of the M. V. N. to the "front" on August 10th are well under way and brigade commissary officers and battalion quartermasters and commissaries of the Second, Fifth, Sixth and Ninth regiments and the acting commissaries of the field hospital, ambulance and signal corps met at the state house Wednesday in a conference with Major Frederick B. Hacker of the substance department of the regular army.

A meeting of the regimental quartermasters was also held and instructions were received from General William B. Emery. The orders issued by the war department say that the district includes cities and towns in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York. The Massachusetts troops will mobilize as follows:

Second Infantry, headquarters at Springfield; first battalion at Worcester; second battalion at Westfield; third battalion at Springfield. Fifth Infantry will assemble in Boston, and the Sixth at South Framingham, with the exception of a provisional battalion, which will start from Boston.

Ninth Infantry, with the exception of the third battalion, which will assemble in Worcester, will start from Boston.

Other troops from this state will start from the nearest mobilization points.

The following troops will participate: United States army—Fifth Infantry; Tenth Cavalry; Second Battery, Third Field Artillery; Company B, First Engineers; Fifth Company A, Signal Corps; one aviation section.

New York—First brigade: First, Fourth and Fifth infantry; First and Second cavalry; Batteries A and B, Field Artillery; Signal corps and First Field Hospital company.

Massachusetts—First brigade: Second and Sixth regiments of infantry; Second brigade: Fifth and Ninth regiments of infantry; First company, Signal corps; First Field Hospital and First Ambulance companies.

Connecticut—First, Second and First separate company of infantry; First Field company, Signal corps; First Field Hospital and Ambulance companies.

Maine—Second regiment of infantry. Vermont—First regiment of infantry.

The maneuvers will be divided into two periods. The first from 10 to 15 will be the "functional period" and the second the "final period."

Subsistence, fuel and forage, after the first day, will be drawn from the field supply trains of the regular army. The troops will carry full field equipment, those from this state organizing as part of the Red army.

Captain Francis C. Marshall, U. S. cavalry; Captain Russell P. Reeder, U. S. A. C.; Thomas D. Sloan, U. S. A. Field Artillery; Inspector-Instructors of the Massachusetts militia are assigned to act as assistant chiefs of staff during the tour of duty.

RESIGNS PRESIDENCY Of the Boston National Baseball Club

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—John M. Ward, president of the Boston National League Baseball club, resigned his position yesterday, when he sold his share of the club's stock to James H. Gaffney of New York, who with Mr. Carroll of New York, has been associated with Pres. Ward as owners of the team.

Mr. Gaffney, who is treasurer of the Boston club, desires to own all the stock, and besides obtaining Mr. Ward's share he has offered to buy out Mr. Carroll, who, it is understood, is willing to sell.

Messrs. Ward and Gaffney met in New York yesterday and closed the deal by which Mr. Ward will no longer be identified with the Boston club. Mr. Carroll, who is ill, did not attend the conference, but it is believed that he will only a short time before Mr. Gaffney will acquire his stock also. If indeed he has not already made a deal to take it over.

Most of the stock in the Boston club was owned jointly by Messrs. Ward, Carroll and Gaffney, who purchased the shares from the estate of the late William Hepburn Russell. There are other stockholders, most of them residing in Boston, but the number of shares held outside the new controllers is very small.

Last spring the new triumvirate in Boston baseball made extensive changes in the plant at the South End, and laid plans for a successful season. The ball nine, however, did not get out well, and after a few games dropped to the bottom of the league, where it remained for some time it has been apparent that the new owners have not been working together in close harmony, and Mr. Ward's disposal of his stock at this time was not altogether unexpected.

Mr. Ward was the baseball man of the concern, and he came to Boston with great confidence that the position at the National League park was a good one.

SPECIAL TRAIN

TO TAKE G. A. R. MEN TO NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—George A. Hosley, department commander, Massachusetts G. A. R., announced in general orders that the department has arranged for a special train for accommodation of department officers, representatives to the national encampment and others who will go to Los Angeles for the national encampment, Sept. 9-14.

This train will leave Boston from the North Station, Sept. 8 at 12:15 p. m. The train will go over the Boston & Maine, Grand Trunk and Santa Fe lines, arriving in Los Angeles 7:30 a. m. Sept. 8. Those desiring accommodations on this train must apply early to department headquarters.

The parade on Wednesday, Sept. 11, at Massachusetts department headquarters in Los Angeles will be at the Alexandria hotel.

There will be a meeting of the aides at headquarters, Alexandria hotel, Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 10, at 4 o'clock. Those entitled to hold seats in the encampment will meet at the state headquarters, Sept. 10, for the transaction of important business.

These comrades have been appointed aides on Department Commander Hosley's staff: Benjamin Proctor, Post 7, Boston; Justin Howard, Post 12, Wakefield; John McLean, Post 12, Wakefield; Robert Fielden, Post 16, Fall River; G. Reimold, Post 50, Cambridge; the Rev. J. Adams, Post 100, Methuen; George A. Lorin, Post 115, Gardner; James R. Grove, Post 155, Everett; Henry Clark, Post 25, Arlington, W. A. Wertheimer, I. H. DeWolf, James H. Wolff, A. H. Knowles, A. A. Carlton and J. Payson Bradley have been appointed a committee of conference on matters relating to the Sons of Veterans.

HARVARD ROMANCE

OF FIVE YEARS AGO ENDS IN WEDDING AT ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, AUG. 1.—The happy ending of a romance which had its inception while Miss Eugenia Lodwick, secretary of the College Club of St. Louis, was a student at Wellesley and Eugene A. Hecker, now an instructor at Harvard, was a senior in the university, took place in this city this evening.

Five years ago, when both were attending college, a sister of Hecker, who was also a student at Wellesley, introduced her brother to Miss Lodwick. On leaving Wellesley Miss Lodwick became a teacher in St. Gabriel's school, Peabody, N. Y., when Hecker, who had attained an instructor's position at Harvard, met Miss Lodwick, renewing their acquaintance, announcing their engagement recently.

Hecker, who is a former resident of St. Louis, in his freshman year captured the $200 "Price Greenleaf" prize, winning the Bowditch prize of $250 in his sophomore year. As a junior he was awarded the $300 "Price Greenleaf" and two Bowditch prizes, one of $200 for a dissertation in English and one of $50 for a Greek translation.

BUNTING CRICKET CLUB

The board of directors of the Bunting cricket club sincerely hopes that every member of the association will attend the postponed quarterly meeting of all the members at 8 o'clock in the South End tonight at eight o'clock as matters of vital and great importance to every member will be brought before the meeting for action. The reports of the financial officers will be interesting to every member and the amendments to the by-laws "which provide for an increase in the yearly dues, raises the entrance fee to $10 to join the association and changes the election of members of the board of directors so that after the next election four members of the board of directors will be elected every year to serve two years instead of one" should prove of sufficient importance to bring every member to the meeting tonight.

After the business has been disposed of a light buffet lunch and other refreshments will be served in the banquet hall and remarks for the good of the order will be made by leading members of the association. The grounds committee who has charge of the new grounds will make their report of work which has been done up to the present time and also what is contemplated in the future.

DEM. STATE COMMITTEE WILL REMAIN NEUTRAL

In the Fight Between Governor Foss and District Attorney Pelletier

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—An enthusiastic demonstration for Mayor Fitzgerald's candidacy for the United States senate, the mayor's warning not to underestimate Roosevelt's strength in mill centers, a refusal of the organization to get Dist. Atty. Pelletier to withdraw from the gubernatorial fight in favor of Gov. Foss, a refusal to make any alliance with the "Bull Moose" party, and a decision to hold the state convention in this city Oct. 5, were among the features of yesterday's meeting of the democratic state committee.

Plans for a red-hot democratic campaign, the placing of candidates to oppose republicans for every office in every district and the appointment of a committee to get campaign money were also considered by the organization.

The meeting was attended by 33 of the 54 members of the organization, and letters were received from several of the absentees that they would abide by the majority vote of the committee upon every question considered.

While the majority of the members present were individually strong Foss supporters, there were some strong Pelletier men at the meeting, including former Chairman John F. McDonald of the state committee, who managed Foss' campaign for two years and who is now one of the strongest Pelletier men in the state.

Will Remain Neutral

It was before Committee Chairman McDonald reached the meeting, at the Elks' clubhouse that President Maynard of the democratic city committee, whose organization endorsed Gov. Foss' candidacy for re-election some weeks ago, suggested that a committee be appointed to wait upon the gubernatorial candidates for the purpose of getting Dist. Atty. Pelletier to withdraw in favor of Gov. Foss.

When the suggestion was put up, Chairman Riley of the organization declared that it would be a waste of energy, as he felt after interviewing both candidates that they were determined to stick to the finish. Other members of the organization readily agreed with Chairman Riley and among them were Frank Richardson, who believed that a red hot contest for the party nomination for governor would bring out a large vote. Following an extended discussion, the committee decided to remain neutral as an organization.

Prior to the regular committee meeting the executive committee met and voted to suggest that the state committee for the adoption of a platform and for the selection of presidential electors be held on Oct. 4, the day before the republican state convention. The state committee promptly turned down that suggestion and decided to have the convention at Faneuil hall Saturday, Oct. 5, at 12 o'clock.

In past years, the democratic conventions have been held after the republican convention for the purpose of improving upon the republican platform.

Mayor is Welcomed

Chairman Riley was authorized by the committee to appoint a committee to make up a complete slate for all the offices to be voted upon in every district, including candidates for congress, governor's council, senate and representative.

It was while action was being taken upon that motion that Mayor Fitzgerald arrived. He was received with cheers and hailed as the next United States senator. After other business was promptly suspended and the mayor was given the floor.

The mayor urged the organization to open a strenuous campaign for the election of a democratic legislature, and pointed out among other things that there are 90 doubtful representatives and 16 doubtful senators in the legislature, in which republicans were elected last year, and which can be made democratic by hard and systematic work. With the election of democrats to one-half of those districts, the Massachusetts legislature will be strongly democratic.

The mayor warned the members not to underestimate the Roosevelt strength in the state, and more especially in the mill centers. He contended that a red-hot campaign against the Roosevelt candidacy in those places will result in placing all the mill cities and towns in the democratic column.

Following the mayor's departure, the committee unanimously opposed any alliance with "Bull Moose" candidates for office, but did agree to allow any democratic candidate to accept "Bull Moose" endorsements after securing party nominations. It was during a discussion upon that issue that many of the committee members expressed a belief that Roosevelt would have more than President Taft in Massachusetts.

Chairman Riley was authorized to appoint committees on finance and for the enlistment of an army of 600 campaign orators for the speakers' bureau.

L. H. MARTIN DEFEATED

Lowell Man Beaten in Tennis Match

CRAWFORD HOUSE, N. H., Aug. 1.

A battle royal was the result of the third round match in the singles tennis contest of the White Mountain championship played yesterday between King Smith of New York and L. H. Martin of Lowell, Mass. In the morning, when these two contestants started their match, two sets were completed before a heavy shower drenched the courts and prevented further play.

The participants agreed to play the entire match over in the afternoon, in which King Smith was the victor after three sets. Martin was the faster in the morning, taking the first set in 8-3, but losing the second 8-10.

In the semi-final round in the upper half of the draw Dr. W. A. Bradford of Longwood, and W. A. Barron, Jr., of Harvard were the contestants, the former winning straight sets.

Singles, third round—King Smith, New York, defeated L. H. Martin, Lowell, 3-6, 8-6, 6-3.

Semi-finals—W. A. Bradford, Longwood, defeated W. A. Barron, Jr., Harvard, 6-3, 6-2.

Double second round—J. G. Nelson, Dartmouth, and E. H. Harris, Longwood, defeated S. F. and M. F. Partridge, Watertown, 6-1, 6-0; E. A. Hinchcliffe, Sharon, and W. E. Evans, Jamaica Plain, defeated W. A. Barron, Jr., Harvard, and H. B. Hatchelder, Harvard, 6-0, 5-7, 6-0.

COL. ROOSEVELT

TO EXPLAIN PROGRESSIVES' ATTITUDE TOWARD NEGRO

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The attitude of the national progressive party in regard to the negro, one of the knottiest problems to be solved in the formation of the party, is taken up at length in a careful statement which Col. Roosevelt completed today and which he will make public in a few days.

Neither of the old parties, Col. Roosevelt asserted, had met the negro question fairly and honestly. The democratic party, he said, was openly against the negro and the republican party had placed the black man in the south on an artificial basis, so far as his relations with the party were concerned.

The republican convention at Chicago, Col. Roosevelt said, illustrated his point and showed that the republican party had been ruined by the character of its southern representation. He said that he had the delegates from most of the great republican states and had it not been for the southern delegates who represented no real party President Taft would have been nominated. The southern delegates, he continued, were in many cases hoppedicked and machine controlled and represented little more than the aspirations of a handful of men for patronage. It is this condition which he said he desired to avoid in the formation of the new party.

Colonel Roosevelt's definition of common sense in the statements attributed to Governor Wilson that he favored a gradual reduction of the tariff, saying that he would reserve further discussion of the tariff until he made his speech in Chicago on Monday night.

CAMPAIGN FUND

GOV. WILSON HAS RECEIVED $12,000 UP TO DATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Approximately $12,000 it was announced today, had been received by Governor Wilson in campaign contributions through the mails. The largest contribution amounted to $2,000 from W. I. Bryan, who sent $1000. The smallest came from an Omaha man, who sent 33 cents. The great bulk of the contributions has come in $1, $5, and $10 checks.

DURIAM-DUP

THE MOST DURABLE STREET PAVEMENT

Although many experiments in street paving have been made in the United States, yet the opinion prevails, that we have not yet discovered a really durable and serviceable pavement that is not too expensive.

Since the coming of the automobile the ordinary macadam pavement has proved a complete failure. It cannot resist the wear and tear of motor car tires, some of which are equipped with cogs or bound with chains to prevent skidding. Asphalt has proved dangerous in wet weather while some other forms of pavement are either open to the same objection or are very dusty and require frequent coats of oil.

The city of New York, like other American cities, has been wrestling with the problem of securing a pavement that will combine in the greatest degree the qualities of strength, durability and a gritty surface. New York is to make an experiment with a kind of pavement that has worn well in certain cities of Europe. It is known as durax and gets its superior qualities from the fact that the surface blocks are small, being carefully cut and fitted by hand, so that none of the joint lines will be in the lines of traffic. As there is great resistance to attrition the dust and mud objections are overcome. The surface, too, it is alleged, is practically noiseless while at the same time it offers a good footing for horses and an equally good grip for automobiles. The blocks are from two and three quarter inches to three and one half inches in size and are laid on a concrete base six inches deep. The surface of the concrete is overlaid with granite chips so that the surface blocks are on a very solid foundation. The interstices are filled with pitch or cement. Many cities in Germany and England boast that this pavement has lasted on their leading streets for over 20 years without needing repair.

In fact durax pavement differs very little from the granite block paving laid in some of our principal streets here in Lowell. Nobody expects this block pavement to need any repairs within the next 20 years. It is true that at first while the surface coat of cement is wearing off, it is somewhat dusty, but when that is gone and the granite surface is laid bare, the dust will disappear. The blocks are larger than in the durax brand; but in all other respects we do not see any reason why this block pavement laid in Central, Merrimack and other local streets is not fully as durable as that which the city of New York is to adopt as the best in the world.

THE ALDRICH CURRENCY PLAN

In the presidential campaign of 1896 free silver was the issue, and in a battle against the gold standard the latter won. Since that day the great production of gold has completely killed the free silver issue, but now another currency question quite as important has come to the front. The matter of making our currency sufficiently elastic to meet the requirements of the nation has been under discussion for years and various plans have been proposed. That which has met the most favorable consideration from republicans, however, is the Aldrich plan, providing for the abolition of government money and the substitution of corporation currency not guaranteed by the government. It would turn over to a private corporation, to be known as a central bank, the function of issuing currency. The National Reserve Association is the name given to Aldrich's central bank, and it is merely a corporation owned by the banks as the Locks and Canals company of this city is owned by the mills.

Such a proposition is dangerous in the extreme, and because it is the plan of ex-Senator Aldrich, it is open to suspicion. It was Aldrich who caused the republican party to disregard the protests of the people and to levy excessive imports on the tariff law with which his name is associated. On the currency question his plans are still more dangerous because he would turn over to private corporations the power of issuing currency that should always rest with the government alone.

The democratic platform on the banking question is quite explicit, safe and sound. It says: "Banks exist for the accommodation of the public and not for the control of business. All legislation on banking and currency should have for its purpose the securing of these accommodations on terms of absolute security to the public and of complete protection from the misuse of the power that wealth gives to those who possess it."

CREELMAN MISREPRESENTS BRITISH SYSTEM

On his return from London, where he investigated the civil service system, James Creelman, head of the civil service commission of New York, undertakes to condemn the English methods as inferior to those in use in this country. Mr. Creelman has evidently viewed the English system through American glasses and has assumed that there is as much political intrigue in England as there is in this country in regard to office-holding and the appointments to the civil service. In the following statement Mr. Creelman grossly misrepresents the English system:

"Civil service is a generation older in England than with us, and we have been taught to study and to revere the English system, but I find it is a delusion and a fraud. It allows the widest latitude to personal friendship and political favoritism. The merit system is almost unknown. As for examinations, they may be said to belong to a literary or a Chinese system. No attempt is made to examine the practical qualifications of applicants. For the position of an ordinary clerk I find a man is required to translate Latin and explain the binomial theorem."

In England the appointments are made upon merit and the examinations being competitive it often happens that the range of questions goes far beyond what is required for the offices to be filled. This apparently Mr. Creelman does not understand; but it shows the high attainments necessary to secure positions under the British civil service as a result of the competitive system impartially administered. The candidates obtain their places honestly and they discharge their duties with a degree of honesty that, to say the least, is very rare in this country.

STREET CAR SERVICE

It would not be fair to criticize all car conductors for lack of desire to accommodate the public; but those who ride much on trolley cars in different cities must occasionally be struck with the indifference which some carmen show to the time of trains outward or inward, especially on the depot lines. When passengers are in a hurry to catch a train, they are often put to great inconvenience by unnecessary delay. On the other hand, when a large number of people get off a train at a railroad station and rush out to catch a street car, it might be expected that the conductor of a passing car would take some notice of their presence and their signals to stop. Yet many conductors from some cause or other fail to notice such signals.

While our remarks here do not refer particularly to Lowell, we may state that the great majority of all the car conductors on most roads and certainly in Lowell are extremely polite, courteous, patient and accommodating. They never pass a street corner or railroad station without looking to see if anybody is beckoning the car to stop. Unfortunately there are some who so far from trying the impossible task of pleasing everybody go to the other extreme of not trying to please anybody.

SEEN AND HEARD

At a concert for charity in a country town, Miss Carter, singing by reciting "The Village Blacksmith." At the conclusion of her recital the rural audience cheered.

"Answer!" they cried. "Answer!" Miss Carter was about to grant the request when a burly fellow very much out of breath tapped her on the shoulder.

"I've just come around from in front," whispered the man excitedly. "I want yer to do me a favor."

"Well, what is it?" queried Miss Carter.

"It's this," whispered the intruder. "I happen ter be the feller you've been talkin' about, and I want yer to put in a verse this time sayin' as how I let out bicycles."

First Farmhand—Now, what do you suppose that old hen is eating them tacks for?

Second Farmhand—Perhaps she's goin' to lay a carpet!

A certain company promoter once built a castle on a mountain peak. As he showed the gray Medieval looking pile to a friend, he said:

"I don't know what to call it. What name do you advise?"

"It looks like those Scotch castles in the Highlands," said the friend. "Why not call it Dunblair?"

"Dunblair? Dunblair? Yes, that would be a good name," said the millionaire. "Only, you see, I have no intention of retiring yet."

A certain millionaire bought a Raphael in Rome. The Italian law prohibits the exportation of masterpieces, and the buyer had the happy idea of getting the Raphael painted over. This was accordingly done. The rare old painting reached London in the guise of a modern snow scene. Then a restorer, under the watchful owner's eye, set to work on it. With a sponge dipped in turpentine he proceeded to sponge the snow scene off. He sponged it off readily, but he sponged a bit of the Raphael off too—and, behold, underneath the Raphael a portrait of Marconi was revealed—London Opinion.

A young lady of our acquaintance gave the following little story of her vacation days:

To the ordinary worker about this time of the year the question arises as to where and how the vacation shall be spent. The active person, after a few days of sitting on a piazza, begins to weary of his inactivity. It is then that the little trip suggests itself to the mind of such a one. I found myself in this state a few weeks

The Experience of Two Girls Here Related For The Benefit of Others.

Rochester, N. Y.—"I have a daughter 13 years old who has always been very healthy until recently when she complained of dizziness and cramps every month, so bad that I would have to keep her home from school and put her to bed to get relief."

"After giving her only two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound she is now enjoying the best of health. I cannot praise your Compound too highly. I want every good mother to read what your medicine has done for my child."

Mrs. RICHARD N. DUNHAM, 311 Exchange St., Rochester, N. Y.

Stoutsville, Ohio.—"I suffered from headache, backache and was very irregular. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken the whole of two bottles I found relief. I am only sixteen years old, but I have better health than for two or three years. I cannot express my thanks for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had taken other medicines but did not find relief."

Miss CORA B. FOSNAUGH, Stoutsville, Ohio, R.F.D., No. 1.

ago and I thought I would take a trip. So I boarded a train to Fall River and the electric to Newport. R. I., a charming ride of an hour and 40 minutes, to the town and it takes one along a stretch of country on one side with the ocean on the other. The city is a quaint one situated picturesquely in Narragansett bay, with its narrow sidewalks and streets in the poorer part. The world-renowned ocean drive, which shows the passenger the beautiful passages of the rich "dollar" is taken by every tourist who enters the city. Eastern's beach now has a board walk with dance halls, restaurants and hobby-horses. In the evening twice a week fireworks and sky-rockets are set off, much to the delight of the humbler element who have expended $30,000 for a place of their own to enjoy themselves. We called at the store of the suffragette leader, Mrs. O. H. Belmont, in Franklin street, and had the pleasure of hearing her little talk and looking at the beautiful Porte Rican embroidery for sale for the cause. As some of the luncheon sets were priced at $150, we did not indulge. Each lady is requested to register and become converted to the cause. The assistants in charge are very friendly and chat to the guests in an interesting manner. All kinds of suffragette literature is for sale and no doubt the cause will be greatly advanced by the efforts of these workers. We took a little stroll on a ferry to Jamestown, and then wended our way homeward after a pleasant stay, having seen the sailors' battalion drill and 15 of the battleships which were coming in the harbor for the maneuvers. The ships look pretty dotted with the sailor recruits in white rows all over them—pleasant and instructive trip, and a little out of the usual rut.

"Defendant, ten days in jail and a fine of five dollars," uttered Judge Solomon Wingleton in the Wheeler, Ontario, police court last week after Stephen MacNeil had pleaded guilty to the charge of having attempted to kiss Arabella Spendigliffe.

Steve was considerably peeved, for he had foxily dogged it out that if he confessed his crime and pleaded, so to speak, on the bosom of the court, he would get away with nothing more severe than a fatherly admonition to confine his cherry stealing operations in the future to their proper place—a fruitstand. He was peeved, too—so he confided to his counsel, Zerkel Spoon, the reason that the misdemeanor which will cost him ten days' liberty and five dollars not far farther than an "attempt"; it having been, as far as any visible, or rather impressionable, results were concerned, very fruitless.

Yet Steve should not be peeved. Far be it from such. He should consider the case in an impersonal manner. The sentence should be thought upon from a philosophical viewpoint; that is, its effect upon his future—after he gets "out"—should be deliberately and logically examined.

Doing this, he would discover that the judgment handed out to him was in reality a blessing in disguise. Indeed, Steve, far from being peevish, would actually become the most hilariously happy man in Wheeler. Why so? you inquire.

Well, consider what he, in all probability, has escaped. A lifelong bondage, instead of one or only five days, that's what it practically means; for how many matrimonial chains have been artfully welded onto unthinking men through their partiality for pecking chickens, not of the fruitstand variety? Thus Steve's temporary loss of freedom amounts to a mere 14,400 minutes, whereas his surrender of his liberty, say for fifty years, would total some 25,200,000 exasperating circles of the second's dial. But this is not all. He has, too, escaped a lifelong series of bills for hats, bills for leathers, bills for lingerie, bills for shoes, bills for

IN ZION CITY TO BE INQUIRED INTO

WAUKESHA, Ill., Aug. 1.—The coroner yesterday began an investigation into the death of George Marion, aged 6, son of the once famous actor, George Marion. The child died, according to the report to the coroner, from a fall from a third-story window in the home of his grandmother in Zion City. No medical attention was given the child as he writhed in the agony caused by his fatal hurts, but followers of William Glenn Voliva, John Alexander Dowd's successor, surrounded the suffering boy and prayed.

The coroner was told that the child died in terrible pain. The grandmother, he was told, was one of those who surrounded and joined in the prayers.

George Marion, father of the dead child, is now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary at Philadelphia for shooting his wife. Until the crime two years ago Marion was well known throughout the United States. Actors all over the country raised a large fund for his defence when he was convicted of murder.

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—A large party of New England Knights of Columbus and their friends left Boston this forenoon at 11.30 for the 30th annual meeting of the supreme council of the order which opens next Tuesday at Colorado Springs. Besides the supreme state and auxiliary dependencies of the United States and all parts of Canada will be present.

The only officers to be elected this year are four supreme directors who will take office Sept. 1. Great interest is being felt over the report of the Catholic University Endowment Fund committee, which will report progress. The success of the plan to raise $500,000 for scholarships has been very gratifying. On July 19, the funds in the hands of the committee aggregated $404,709. By Jan. 1, the fund is expected to be completed and the 50 scholarships will then be placed at the disposal of the order by the university.

The reports of the supreme secretary, William J. McGinley of New York on the membership and finances of the order will be of a very pleasing nature. The K. of C. now has 232,748 members, distributed among 1593 councils. The amount in the various funds of the order amounted, on June 30, to $3,390,320.05.

A special report of importance will be that of the committee on higher education, composed of the Rev. Dr. John T. Creagh of the Catholic university, Prof. James C. Monaghan and Dr. James J. Walsh of Fordham University Medical school.

The first event of convention week will be a big exemplification of the 3d degree next Sunday afternoon. The formal opening of the convention will be Tuesday, Mayor H. F. Avery delivering the address of welcome. Tuesday and Thursday will witness business meetings, while the remainder of the time will be devoted to social enjoyment.

Joseph C. Pelletier started for Colorado Springs yesterday to prepare for the work of the committee on resolutions and laws of which he is chairman. Today's party is under the direction of M. J. Downey.

THE GREAT HOUSE IN THE SQUARE

The door swings wide on the threshold. Of the great house in the square, The house with the grim green shutters.

And silence everywhere:
The garden lies a wildwood.
Of bloom where the roses rare
Are waiting the foot of childhood
To find its kingdom there!
The door swings wide on the threshold.
Of the great house in the square.

Age sits in the lonely parlor
Of the great house in the square,
With Youth, that aches and pines
And listens at the stair—
Their hearts a garden wildwood
Of love and hope and care,
Lost motherhood and childhood
Should miss their kingdom there!
Age sits with Youth in parlor
Of the great house in the square.

A guest has come in the twilight
To the great house in the square;
Fling wide the grim green shutters,
Chase silence anywhere!
A voice for the garden wildwood,
A kiss for the roses rare,
For the laughing foot of childhood
Has found its kingdom there!
Mary-Rose has come in the twilight
To the great house in the square.

LOWELL MAN

WAS A PASSENGER ON THE CITY OF ROCKLAND

Ralph E. Bassett of this city had a narrow escape from drowning when thrown from a lifeboat of the steamer City of Rockland early Tuesday morning. Mr. Bassett is a dentist and lives at 101 Shaw street. He was returning from Gardiner, Me., and had boarded the Rockland at that city. He was in a bunk of a lower deck when the collision occurred, and his first thought was that the boat had struck a rock.

He went on deck and found that a lifeboat filled with women was being lowered from the davits. The women were crying loudly for some man to get in to ply the oars, and Mr. Bassett jumped in. The boat had been in the water but a few minutes when it began to leak, the water coming in through plug holes in the bottom. Mr. Bassett, who was busy with an oar, was thrown some distance from the boat and had a very tough time of it. While he was in the water the boat righted itself and the arrival of a lifeboat from the colliding ship had smashed into the Rockland, saved the women. The immigrants were taken to the colliding ship where they were given food and blankets.

BILLERICA

The town hall of Billerica has been wired for electric lighting and the job is now finished, the cost being $341.52. With the new arrangements the hall is now lighted as it should be.

The board of selectmen who were appointed as a building committee by the moderator at the last special town meeting met and discussed matters in connection with the building of the proposed new structure. It was decided to get into communication with Engineer J. R. Worcester of Boston, who prepared the plans and specifications, and instruct him to prepare the contract between the lowest bidder and building committee. It is hoped that the preliminary work will be started in a couple of weeks.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned wishes to express his sincere thanks to his many friends and neighbors, through whose acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and floral offerings, the burden of grief thrust upon him at the time of the death of his beloved wife, was materially lightened. Especially does he wish to thank the members of the Celtic Associates and the Meagher Guards, for the many attentions bestowed.

(Signed) James Hamill.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

SURE THING. Willy—Henry, when we go back may be the neighbors won't believe we've been staying at a summer resort. Hubby—Sure they will when they see how hungry we look.

THE OBSTACLE. Vivian—Yes, I was engaged to a duke. Violet—And what cruel obstacle came between two loving hearts? Vivian—Oh! nothing in particular! We just let the option expire.

ECONOMICAL WOMAN. He—They were married by telephone. She—Was it a pay station?

HE TOOK A BIG RISK. Kitty—He sang as if his life depended on it. Frank—It did, too. An audience can stand just so much, you know.

ALMOST. He—Are you happy, dear? She—I'm within a hat and two gowns and a parcel of being so.

HE'S ALL RIGHT. Marie—When your house took fire did Reggy, your fiance, act heroically, Marie? Marie—Yes, indeed. Why, when mamma died a phill around him and threw him out the window he never uttered a word.
